Wounds as Result of Battle

Philadelphia, April 23 (AP)—A 23-year-old youth shot two policemen to death in a street corner gun battle early today, Sergeant John J. Creedon reported.

A detective officer who declined use of his name said the youth identified himself as William Halliwell in what Sgt. Creedon said was a stolen car.

Creedon said the youth is an escapee from a private school for delinquents at Staatsburg, N. Y.

The spokesman said the youth, who was taken to Germantown Hospital with four gun wounds, stated that his mother was divorced from Dr. Alfred I. Halliwell, former professor of anthropology at the University of Pennsylvania.

The shooting followed a wild race through North Philadelphia streets as two patrol cars chased Halliwell in what Sgt. Creedon said was a stolen car.

In Chicago, Dr. Halliwell said he was "too shocked" to discuss the shooting. Before terminating a telephone interview, Dr. Halliwell said he has been living with his mother in Philadelphia.

"I have not seen him for some time," he said.

Hospital attaches described the youth's condition as "very poor" despite the fact that he did not lose consciousness.

Attendants expected him to live, however.

Nurses said that Halliwell's mother by adoption, Child Psychologist Dr. Dorothy Kern Halliwell, went to his bedside and was told:

"Get away from here; I want to die alone."

The police sergeant said he received a report of a stolen car at 12:57 a. m. (E.S.T.) and dispatched two one-man patrol cars to the scene.

One of the cars picked up Street Sgt. Samuel Hewitt, 47, and gave chase in a wild car chase over North Philadelphia streets.

The other car joined in the pursuit and when the car Creedon said was stolen was forced to halt behind a bus blocking its path. He stated that Halliwell fired at the two patrol cars.

Hewitt was killed by a bullet through the chest and the officer in the other patrol car, James Quigley, 35, was killed by a shot through the neck.

Other policemen hurrying to their aid fired four times at Halliwell, Creedon said.

Mayor William F. Edelmuth has designated Friday and Saturday, as Tag Days in the American Cancer Society's national drive for funds. On those days members of the Kingston Junior League will solicit contributions toward the Ulster county goal of $7,500.

Mayor urged "each and every individual citizen of our city to be as generous in their support of this movement as their means will permit and to purchase a tag."

The mayor recalled that the American Cancer Society conducts a fund-raising campaign each year to sponsor cancer research and education, and that the Ulster County Division has an annual quota.

"It is vitally important that we of the City of Kingston and the County of Ulster all participate in this program," he wrote.

The Junior Leaguers plan to devote Friday afternoon and Saturday morning to the drive. Mrs. Edwin J. O'Reilly, League chairman, said today. They will be on the city's principal streets, each supplied with the Cancer Society's familiar red cross collection box. Contributors will receive a lapel tag to wear, she said.

The women participating in the drive will be: Mrs. Robert F. Moseley, Mrs. James Quinn, Mrs. William H. Hilton, Mrs. Herbert B. Johnson, Mrs. Kenneth Davenport, Mrs. Harry LeFever, Jr., Mrs. Everett E. Fessenden, Jr., Mrs. Robert Herzog, Mrs. Edward DeGroot, Mrs. Henry H. Parker, Mrs. Burton S. Davis and Mrs. Amos Newcombe.

Jay W. Rifenbary, the county campaign chairman, reminded workers today that the drive is entering its last week. The national goal of this year's campaign, which ends on April 30, is $12,000,000.

"If real medical and scientific progress is to be achieved," Mr. Rifenbary said, "it is imperative that we raise at least $10,000 in Ulster County in this campaign."

Pittsburgh, April 23 (AP)—A contract providing a $1-per-day wage increase for 140,000 employees of U. S. Steel Corp. subsidiaries was signed today by representatives of management and the C.I.O. United Steel Workers.

Charles R. Cox, president of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation, one of the subsidiaries, told the union men:

"We have a great deal of faith in your leader (Union President Philip Murray)."

"We have taken a big step here and we are taking it because we have faith."

John A. Stephens, a U. S. Steel vice president, appealed to the unionists to "be sincere in your judgment."

"Be tolerant," he said. "This also goes for us."

Stephens added:

"Let's see if we can't devote ourselves in the next two-year (contract) period so that we will not let rumors and unfounded lies widen the gap which is already too wide between organized labor and management."

Murray had said he wished to "pay tribute to the spirit of fairness" of Stephens in the negotiations. He had added that Stephens had won the "respect and admiration" of the union.

About 50 officials of the union and management attended the signing.

The agreement, said spokesmen for both sides, was all sewed up two days ago when the union's executive board and wage-policy committee approved it. It needed only the signature of top union and company executives to make it official.

Reporters and news photographers and representatives of both sides assembled at 3 p. m. yesterday for the ceremony. Nothing happened. Hour after hour went by and still nothing happened. The signing was delayed while the legal minds worked out the final phrasing of the contract.

Decided to Sign Today

Finally, after much haggling and many conferences between attorneys, John A. Stephens, vice president in charge of industrial relations for U. S. Steel, announced the agreement would not be signed until today.

Meanwhile, the C.I.O. and other steel firms went ahead with negotiations, contract talks were scheduled with Jones & Laughlin, Inland, and Bethlehem Steel Corporations within the next few days.

At Weirton, W. Va., Edward A. Ross, president of the Weirton Independent Union, Inc., which represents about 12,000 Weirton Steel Co. employees, said, "we expect momentarily the fruitful termination of our wage talks."

The Weirton union, long a bitter foe of the Steel Workers, last year won a 19-cent hourly increase for its workers. Weirton steel was the only major steel company not affected by last year's month-long nationwide steel strike.

Plans to Meet Green

Pittsburgh, April 23 (AP)—Philip Murray, C.I.O. president, said today he was arranging "as soon as possible" to meet with A.F.L. President William Green to discuss unification of the two labor organizations.

An additional 45 minutes of parking time to members of the Lions Club for their weekly luncheon. This same consideration, Schwenk said, had also been given to the members of the Kiwanis Club.

"The ordinance covering parking meters limits the time of parking to one hour between 8 a. m. and 9 p. m. on Fridays, and all other days other than Sunday between the hours of 8 a. m. and 6 p. m." the alderman at large declared.

"Laws are not made to be administered by public officials in such a way as to curtail favor with certain individuals or groups," Mr. Schwenk continued, adding that "Under the law all people must be treated the same."

The alderman at large said it was his opinion that the only proper and legal way to handle

Set Ablaze

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said today that the fire department is conducting an investigation into details surrounding a mysterious blaze that caused extensive damage at the Jelico Realty storehouse in the rear of the Fuller Shirt Company, 45 Pine Grove avenue, Tuesday night about 9 o'clock.

The chief said about one-third of the contents of paper cartons in a large storage room were damaged by fire and water. Evidence uncovered during the investigation today revealed that the blaze started on the outside of the frame structure. Fire Chief Joseph Murphy said.

The chief advanced two possible theories for the origin of the blaze:

It could have started when someone carelessly dropped a cigarette in a rubbish pile near the building, or

It might have been of malicious origin. The chief said no definite decision has been reached on either theory, but it has been definitely established that the fire started from the outside.

$100,000 Damage Not Covered

The chief, meanwhile, revised downward early estimates of the fire damage and said it would not exceed $100. The loss was not covered by insurance.

The fire started in a storage room used by the Fuller company for the storage of paper cartons in which shirts are shipped. One third of the cartons and some wrapping paper was destroyed by the blaze. Smoke and water caused other damage.

Firemen were summoned to the warehouse which is adjacent to the main Fuller factory just off Susan street at 9:05 p. m. Tuesday. Continued on Page Eleven

Daylight Saving
Begins April 27
In Most Sections

(By The Associated Press)

The pattern of areas that will go on Daylight Saving Time April 27 will in places resemble a patchwork quilt, many communities having exercised their option to differ with their neighbors on whether to make the change.

(Kingston will be one of the cities changing to the new time.)

In general, the time change will be made on a statewide basis, with most of the states now planning on remaining on Standard Time during those in the South and West.

Most areas making the change will do so at 2 a. m. on Sunday, April 27.

All but a dozen villages in New York will go on Daylight Saving. Norwich, seat of Chenango county, will make the change, but the board of county commissioners voted against it and plan to do county business on the old time.

States where Daylight Saving will be general, either by law or general agreement, include Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey and Rhode Island. In Pennsylvania, 181 communities will make the change.

Connecticut's legislature is considering repeal of a state law requiring all publicly displayed clocks to show only Standard Time; it has been ignored in the past.

Although he supervised more than 200 executions, Lawes was a founder and former president of the Society to Abolish Capital Punishment. He also was a former

Estimate $7,500,000,000 Cost to the Federal Government for Program Which Aims
at 15,000,000 Homes by 1958

Washington, April 23 (AP)—The Senate Banking Committee approved 7 to 6 today a long-range housing bill designed to encourage construction of 15,000,000 homes by 1958.

Senator Buck (R-Del.) told reporters the committee deadlocked 6 to 6, on the first vote and had to telephone Senator Maybank (D-S.C.), who was on an official visit to the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., to break the tie. Maybank voted with the plan.

The Senate passed a similar bill during the last session of Congress, but the measure was shelved in the House. Senators Wagner (D-N.Y.), Ellender (D-La.) and Taft (R-Ohio) sponsored both bills.

Buck estimates the cost of the program to the federal government at about $7,500,000,000 over a 45-year period.

The bill provides for aiding the private housing industry "to make its full contribution toward an economy of maximum employment, production and purchasing power."

For Security of Nation

A policy statement in the bill declares:

"The general welfare and security of the nation . . . requires a production of residential construction and related community development sufficient to remedy the serious cumulative housing shortage, to eliminate slums and blighted areas, and to realize as soon as feasible the goal of a decent home and suitable living environment for every American family."

500,000 in Four Years

Among provisions proposed by many private builders is one authorizing construction of 500,000 public housing units in the first four years after enactment of the bill. On this part of the program, the federal government would subsidize states and local communities at the rate of $26,400,000 each year for four years.

The federal grant for the next 41 years would amount to about $105,000,000 annually.

On private construction, purchasers would be required to make a down payment of only five per cent on homes costing up to $5,000. Insure loans would cover 95 per cent of the cost at four per cent interest over a period of 30 years.

Voting for the bill in addition to Maybank were Senators Flinders (R-Vt.), Wagner (D-N.Y.), Taylor (D-Idaho), Fulbright (D-Ark.), Spemann (D-Ala.) and Tobey (R-N.H.), chairman of the committee.

Against it were Buck, Capehart (R-Ind.), Cain (R-Wash.), Bricker (R-Ohio), McCarthy (R-Wis.) and Robertson (D-Va.).

Another Parley Is Set
Between Union and
C.I.O. Union; G.M.
Offer Is RefusedPlans Are Spurned
Reuther Says General
Motors Rejected 3
Proposals

Detroit, April 23 (AP)—The C.I.O. United Auto Worker's 200-man national General Motors Council voted unanimously today to demand from the corporation a straight 15-cent hourly wage increase without any strings attached.

General Motors had turned down the 15-cent union proposal following a two-and-one-half hour extraordinary negotiating session Tuesday night.

The U.A.W.'s top negotiators will take the council's ultimatum back to another conference with the corporation starting at 2 p. m. (E.S.T.).

Rejection of General Motors' latest offer of 11½ cents hourly wage hike and an additional 3½ cents to six annual holidays pay came in a voice vote by the national council after President Walter P. Reuther had strongly recommended that action.

In a speech lasting an hour and a half, the red-haired Reuther reiterated in strong language that the auto workers should press for a straight 15-cent increase without General Motors' "telling us how to spend it."

Two Proposals Made

The union had made two proposals to General Motors Tuesday night in addition to the flat 15-cent hourly raise and the 3½-cent hourly raise and the corporation rejected all of them.

A union announcement said the national council will meet again tonight at 8 p. m. and will be ready to consider any proposal that may develop from the afternoon negotiating session with G. M.

Reuther denounced the C. I. O. United Electrical Workers' and United Rubber Workers' for signing contracts with G. M. on the basis of the corporation's latest offer of the auto workers.

The electrical workers accepted an increase of 18½ cents a year, ago in the midst of the 113-day G. M. strike, a figure that subsequently was accepted by the auto workers.

The U.A.W. president said these two unions had been asked to hold up on their wage agreements but that they signed without acknowledging the suggestion and without notification to Phil Murray, C.I.O. president.

At the close of last night's session, Reuther charged G. M. with an "arrogant, arbitrary attitude" in demanding acceptance of its offer of 11½ cents hourly, with an additional 3½ cents for the six holidays.

U.A.W. dissatisfaction with the G.M. proposal, basis of a settlement between the corporation and the C.I.O. United Electrical Workers' and United Rubber Workers, stems from the auto workers' wish to "decide how they want to spend their money," Reuther said at a press conference.

Union Counter-Proposal

Against the company offer to put nearly a third of the boost into payments for holidays, the union put forth a counter-proposal that the increase be paid as a flat raise or used in part for a Social Security and retirement plan.

"The G.M. workers never asked for paid holidays," Reuther asserted. "They want Social Security and an old age retirement plan. The union demands involve not only wages but the closely-allied problems of security for the workers."

"G.M. has said 'We will give you 15 cents an hour but you will have to spend it just as we give it to you.'"

The C.I.O.-U.E.W. accepted the General Motors offer because they wanted paid holidays, Reuther said, and added "and that their business." However, he said G.M. employees considered long term protection "more important."

The U.A.W.'s new proposals cut more than a third from the union's original 23½ cent hourly demand.

Senate Bank Committee Approves Long-Range Bill for Housing

Estimate $7,500,000,000 Cost to the Federal Government for Program Which Aims at 15,000,000 Homes by 1958

Washington, April 23 (AP)—The Senate Banking Committee approved 7 to 6 today a long-range housing bill designed to encourage construction of 15,000,000 homes by 1958.

Senator Buck (R-Del.) told reporters the committee deadlocked 6 to 6, on the first vote and had to telephone Senator Maybank (D-S.C.), who was on an official visit to the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., to break the tie. Maybank voted with the plan.

The Senate passed a similar bill during the last session of Congress, but the measure was shelved in the House. Senators Wagner (D-N.Y.), Ellender (D-La.) and Taft (R-Ohio) sponsored both bills.

Buck estimates the cost of the program to the federal government at about $7,500,000,000 over a 45-year period.

The bill provides for aiding the private housing industry "to make its full contribution toward an economy of maximum employment, production and purchasing power."

For Security of Nation

A policy statement in the bill declares:

"The general welfare and security of the nation . . . requires a production of residential construction and related community development sufficient to remedy the serious cumulative housing shortage, to eliminate slums and blighted areas, and to realize as soon as feasible the goal of a decent home and suitable living environment for every American family."

Among provisions opposed by many private builders is one authorizing construction of 500,000 public housing units in the first four years after enactment of the bill. On this part of the program, the federal government would subsidize states and local communities at the rate of $26,400,000 each year for four years.

The federal grant for the next 41 years would amount to about $105,000,000 annually.

On private construction, purchasers would be required to make a down payment of only five per cent on homes costing up to $5,000. Insure loans would cover 95 per cent of the cost at four per cent interest over a period of 30 years.

Jelico Realty Storehouse Used by Fuller Co. May Have Been Set Ablaze

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said today that the fire department is conducting an investigation into details surrounding a mysterious blaze that caused extensive damage at the Jelico Realty storehouse in the rear of the Fuller Shirt Company, 45 Pine Grove avenue, Tuesday night about 9 o'clock.

The fire chief said about one-third of the contents of paper cartons in a large storage room were damaged by fire and water. Evidence uncovered during the investigation today revealed that the blaze started on the outside of the frame structure, Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said.

The chief advanced two possible theories for the origin of the blaze:

"It could have started when someone carelessly dropped a cigarette in a rubbish pile near the building, or

"It might have been of malicious origin. The chief said no definite decision has been reached on either theory, but it has been definitely established that the fire started from the outside.

$100 Damage Not Covered

The chief, meanwhile, revised downward early estimates of the fire damage and said it would not exceed $100. The loss was not covered by insurance.

The fire started in a storage room used by the Fuller company for the storage of paper cartons in which shirts are shipped. One third of the cartons and some wrapping paper was destroyed by the blaze. Smoke and water caused other damage.

Firemen were summoned to the storehouse which is adjacent to the main Fuller factory just off Susan street at 9:05 p. m. Tuesday, Continued on Page Eleven

Another Parley Is Set Between Union and C.I.O. Union; G.M. Offer Is Refused

Plans Are Spurned

Reuther Says General Motors Rejected 3 Proposals

Detroit, April 23 (AP)—The C.I.O. United Auto Worker's 200-man national General Motors Council voted unanimously today to demand from the corporation a straight 15-cent hourly wage increase without any strings attached.

General Motors had turned down the 15-cent union proposal following a two-and-one-half hour extraordinary negotiating session Tuesday night.

The U.A.W.'s top negotiators will take the council's ultimatum back to another conference with the corporation starting at 2 p. m. (E.S.T.).

Rejection of General Motors' latest offer of 11½ cents hourly wage hike and an additional 3½ cents to six annual holidays pay came in a voice vote by the negotiating council after President Walter P. Reuther had strongly recommended that action.

In a speech lasting an hour and a half, the red-haired Reuther reiterated in strong language that the auto workers should press for a straight 15-cent increase without General Motors "telling us how to spend it."

Two Proposals Made

The union had made two proposals to General Motors Tuesday night in addition to the flat 15-cent hourly raise and the corporation rejected all of them.

A union announcement said the nation council will meet again tonight at 8 p. m. and will be ready to consider any proposal that may develop from the afternoon negotiating session with G. M.

Reuther demanded that C. I. O. United Electrical Workers and United Rubber Workers for signing contracts with G. M. on the basis of the corporation's latest offer to the auto workers.

The U.A.W. president said these two unions had been asked to hold up on their wage agreements but that they signed without acknowledging the suggestion and withholding notification to Phil Murray, C.I.O. president.

At the close of last night's session, Reuther charged G. M. with an "arrogant, arbitrary attitude" in demanding acceptance of its offer of 11½ cents hourly, with an additional 3½ cents for the six holidays.

G.M.'s dissatisfaction with the G.M. proposal basis of a settlement between the corporation and the C.I.O. United Electrical Workers and United Rubber Workers, stems from the auto workers' wish to "decide how they want to spend their money," Reuther said at a press conference.

Union Counter-Proposal

Against the company offer to put nearly a third of the boost into payments for holidays, the union put forth a counter-proposal that the increase be paid as a flat raise or used in part for Social Security and retirement plan.

"The G.M. workers never asked for paid holidays," Reuther asserted. "They want Social Security and an old age retirement plan. The union demands involve not only wages but the closely-allied problems of security for the workers."

"G.M. has said 'We will give you 15 cents an hour but you will have to spend it just as we give it to you.'"

The C.I.O.-U.E.W. accepted the General Motors offer because they wanted paid holidays, Reuther said, and added "and that's their business." However, he said G.M. employees considered long term protection "more important."

The U.A.W.'s new proposals cut more than a third from the union's original 23½ cent hourly demand.

Immanuel Lutheran to Observe Synod's Centennial on Sunday

The Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Missouri, O., and other states, known as the Missouri Synod, is completing 100 years of activity this month. The president of this body, Dr. J. W. Behnken, has called for a world-wide celebration to take place Sunday, April 27, Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church on Livingston street, the Rev. Ernest L. Witte, pastor, will observe this centennial in its regular services Sunday morning. It has been an active member of the Missouri Synod since 1870.

The organization of this synod took place in Chicago, in April, 1847, when 22 Lutheran pastors met to adopt a constitution which pledged them to a definite, conservative stand on the old historical Lutheran confessions. Sixteen congregations numbering 4,000 souls formed the group of charter members. From this small beginning the synod has now grown to a number exceeding 1,500,000 adherents. It has churches and missions in every state of the union, as well as in Canada, Alaska, Mexico, Cuba, the Hawaiian Islands, England, Panama, and South America. Foreign mission work is carried on in India, China, Africa, and the Philippine Islands. Some 4,000 active pastors and missionaries are on the roster of this church, while 1,900 ministerial students are enrolled in its colleges and seminaries. Its Concordia Seminary in St. Louis is the largest Lutheran seminary in the world. The latest figures show that the members of this synod contributed nearly 40 million dollars for its extensive work at home and abroad during the past year, over $1,000,000 of which was for relief among war sufferers.

Broad Educational Program
More than 1,000 congregations in this synod maintain their own full-time Christian day schools. These are attended by over 80,000 pupils, who are taught by 2,500 teachers. The local Immanuel Church has fostered such a school for its own children and others who are interested in a Christian training of their children. Eight Lutheran high schools are located in strategic centers, and a Lutheran university is rapidly expanding its facilities in Valparaiso, Ind.

The Missouri Synod took an intense interest in youth work which is now largely carried on by its International Walthers League, named after one of the leaders in the organization of this church body, Dr. C. F. W. Walther. The men of this church are especially active through the Lutheran Laymen's League, and, within recent years, the women have organized the Lutheran Women's Missionary League. The work of this church body is aided by many publications which are printed in its own Concordia Publishing House in St. Louis. The synod also owns and operates its own radio station KFUV in St. Louis. This was the beginning of an extensive radio mission of the air, known as the Lutheran Hour, featuring Dr. Walter A. Maier, which now is heard over a total of over 900 stations all over the world. This broadcast is heard locally over station WKNY every Sunday noon at 12:30.

Raising Mission Funds
A centennial thank offering totaling $3,500,000 is being raised throughout this year. Immanuel congregation is also participating in this endeavor which is to furnish needed funds for new and intensive mission work, scholarly research in the field of sociology and ethics from a conservative Lutheran point of view, visual education, and other modern educational projects.

The climax of the centennial observance will be reached on Sunday, July 27, during a convention to be held in Chicago, when over 120,000 Lutherans are expected to attend a mass service in Soldier's Field.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

Resourceful Commissioner
Portland, Ore., April 23 (AP)—City Commissioner Fred L. Peterson believes he has the answer to complaints of excessive public "necking" in a downtown plaza park after dark.

Cupid took a quick exit after the city installed new mercury vapor lighting which turns lipstick and face makeup to ghostly hues.

Close Call
Denver, April 23 (AP)—Patrolmen Ira Marlette and C. Martin Johnson attended the policemen's ball as scheduled last night—but a skunk almost kept them away.

Cruising in suburban Denver, they came upon the skunk. Denver policemen can't shoot skunks—they have orders to bring them to the city zoo alive.

They trailed the skunk for three blocks, and breathed a sigh of relief as he ambled into adjoining Arapahoe county. Then they turned back to the ball.

Absent-Minded
Seattle, Wash., April 23 (AP)—The absent-minded professor story had a parallel at the national convention of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

Dr. Elizabeth Burchenal of New York city, president of the American Folk Dance Society, was to have illustrated her talk with sound movies, but the films failed to arrive.

Investigation showed the Harvard University Film Library had addressed the films to "Seattle Hotel, Washington, D. C.", instead of to Seattle, Wash.

New Era
Yakima, Wash., April 23 (AP)—A helicopter put the old cowhands to shame in the annual buffalo roundup on the foothills grazing ranges northeast of here.

After the mounted cowboys were able to locate only part of the 60-head of the O. D. Gibson herd yesterday, pilot Tommy Hall took to the ranges in his helicopter. He soon flushed the stragglers out of their hideaways.

Minor Event
Chicago, April 23 (AP)—Douglas Maurer, 9, fell off his bicycle on the Rock Island Railroad tracks last night and scampered to safety just before a train crushed the vehicle.

"My dad'll get me a new bike," he assured police, as though more concerned about that than his narrow escape.

Kollin Will Address Civil Service Employees

Featured speaker at The Civil Service Employees' Association, Inc., next Monday, 8 p. m., in the city court room, will be Stanley Kollin of Albany.

Mr. Kollin, a member of the Department of Civil Service of the State of New York, is thoroughly conversant with all civil service matters. A full attendance of members is urged.

All output of Iran's new arms factory will go to Russia.

Immanuel Lutheran to Observe Synod's Centennial on Sunday

The Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Missouri, O., and other states, known as the Missouri Synod, is completing 100 years of activity this month. The president of this body, Dr. J. W. Behnken, has called for a world-wide celebration to take place Sunday, April 27. Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church on Livingston street, the Rev. Ernest L. Witte, pastor, will observe this centennial in its regular services Sunday morning. It has been an active member of the Missouri Synod since 1870.

The organization of this synod took place in Chicago in April, 1847, when 22 Lutheran pastors met to adopt a constitution which pledged them to a definite, conservative stand on the old historical Lutheran confessions. Sixteen congregations numbering 4,000 souls formed the group of charter members. From this small beginning the synod has now grown to a number exceeding 1,500,000 adherents. It has churches and missions in every state of the union, as well as in Canada, Alaska, Mexico, Cuba, the Hawaiian Islands, England, Panama, and South America. Foreign mission work is carried on in India, China, Africa, and the Philippine Islands. Some 4,000 active pastors and missionaries are on the roster of this church, while 1,900 potential students are enrolled in its colleges and seminaries. Its Concordia Seminary in St. Louis is the largest Lutheran seminary in the world. The latest figures show that the members of this synod contributed nearly 40 million dollars for its extensive work at home and abroad during the past year, over $1,000,000 of which was for relief among war sufferers.

Broad Educational Program
More than 1,000 congregations in this synod maintain their own full-time Christian day schools. These are attended by over 80,000 pupils, who are taught by 2,500 teachers. The local Immanuel Church has fostered such a school for its own children and others who are interested in a Christian training of their children. Eight Lutheran high schools are located in strategic centers, and a Lutheran university is rapidly expanding its facilities in Valparaiso, Ind.

The Missouri Synod took an intense interest in youth work which is now largely carried on by its International Walther League, named after one of the leaders in the organization of this church body, Dr. C. F. W. Walther. The men of this church are especially active through the Lutheran Laymen's League, and, within recent years, the women have organized the Lutheran Women's Missionary League. The work of this church body is aided by many publications which are printed in its own Concordia Publishing House in St. Louis. The synod also owns and operates its own radio station KFUO in St. Louis. This was the beginning of an extensive radio mission of the air, known as the Lutheran Hour, featuring Dr. Walter A. Maier, which now is heard over a total of over 900 stations all over the world. This broadcast is heard locally over station WKNY every Sunday noon at 12:30.

Raising Mission Funds
A centennial thank offering totaling $3,500,000 is being raised throughout this year. Immanuel congregation is also participating in this endeavor which is to furnish needed funds for new and intensive mission work, scholarly research in the field of sociology and ethics from a conservative Lutheran point of view, visual education, and other modern educational projects.

Dr. Mulder to Speak
The Rev. Dr. Bernard J. Mulder of New York City, general secretary of the Board of Education of the Reformed Church and director of Public Relations of the Reformed Church, will speak at a special service at the Port Ewen Reformed Church next Sunday at 11:10 on the "United Advance." Further details of the service and facts on the speaker will be announced Saturday in the notice for the Port Ewen Reformed Church.

Total number of deaths from cancer in 1929 was 111,569.

MONTHLY HOLIDAYS

A reader asks why no legal holidays have been created for the four months without them—March, April, June and August. He suggests that this would be a more popular piece of lawmaking than a lot of laws which legislatures enact.

Meditating on this matter, the conclusion comes that June, sandwiched in between Memorial and Independence Day, hardly needs a holiday. But an extra day added to either of those would be just fine. May 31, for example, or July 3 or 5—whichever provides a good long, lazy week-end. For March and April, we nominate St. Patrick's Day, March 17, already holding its parades, and Thomas Jefferson's birthday, April 13, as coming nicely in the middle of those months.

August presents a harder problem. It's full of suitable days to celebrate. Columbus first caught sight of the American mainland on August 1, 1498. The Army Air Corps has a birthday on the second. Columbus set sail on August 3, 1492—an important date indeed. Freedom of the Press was established by the courts on August 4, 1795. The Coast Guard was established August 4, 1790. August 10, 1790, a ship came into Boston Harbor which had been around the world. Women got the vote on August 26, 1920. And there are a dozen others. On the whole, the vote would be likely to go to "Steamboat Day", celebrating August 17, 1807, when "Fulton's Folly", rightly named the "Clermont", chugged her way up the Hudson for the first time. But there, again, wouldn't it be more fun to add a day to the Labor Day week-end?

What all are really waiting for, naturally, is the day on which one of those August sea serpents is caught and verified. That would really be a day!

MOVIE POSSIBILITY

Free advice on how to improve the movies is one thing at which Americans are good. The latest suggestion is that Hollywood has been overlooking something when it neglects to film Kipling's "Kim".

Here is a story of colorful India, of an orphaned waif who has learned to take care of himself by knocking about the native quarter of a crowded city, and finally becomes a member of the British secret service. He meets and overcomes Russian spies among the towering Himalayas, and pilots his second father, the saintly Tibetan lama, through perils of every kind. There is no love theme, but the movie magnates can be relied on to supply that, unless they can see that Kim as a story is strong enough to stand alone.

Hollywood could really do something with "Kim". There is no charge for this suggestion.

Speakers should know that the two words which arouse the most enthusiasm are "In closing . . ."

RED FOR MEN

Feeling low in your mind, brother? Then put on a bright red suit and see how it peps you up. There might also be times when orange, purple or lilac would be just what the situation called for. Women wear colors like these. Why not men?

This suggestion comes from an authoritative source: Ralph Carver of Los Angeles, president of the Merchant Tailors and Designers Association of America, in a convention address. He evidently thinks that such colorful dress would not be shocking. Men have, in fact, been putting out shy, tentative feelers in that direction for some time. Why wouldn't summer be a good time to go at it boldly?

In the animal world it is generally the male who has the bright colors. Perhaps if men wore gay clothing, they might get back their old position of lords of the universe.

THE RISK OF COURAGE

Governor Thomas E. Dewey is the most fortunate of Republican aspirants to the Presidency in that he can devote himself to competent administration of the State of New York without submitting himself to the roughhouse of Congressional debate and action. For instance, while Dewey builds a record of magnificent achievement, Taft is faced by the pontifical personality of Vandenberg and the constant knifing of the New Dealers within his own party who envy Henry Wallace his ability to make headlines even in jest.

Another advantage that is Dewey's is timing from a provincial capital, which is very different from timing in Congress. He can pick and choose the moment to speak. He is not faced by the query: "Will the gentleman yield?" to have to reply in some manner, in the presence of colleagues and press, to some gross stupidity. To reply glibly is to seal one's doom, for the vultures seize upon every word as a mark of policy and magnify each phrase as the portent of a trend. Dewey has none of that nonsense to deal with.

Therefore, he can have courage at precisely the right moment and in the best of taste. He can knock his opponents over to suit his own convenience. He can scorn cowardly vote-counters by raising his own moral levels beyond their reach after they have shriveled their souls in fear and trembling lest some Labor Baron slap their political wrists. And he can pick his own time to do it, for sitting in Albany, he need never hurry, he need never improvise. It is a wonderful situation.

This his Report on the year's legislative action is a state paper of the first order, a magnificent document in which the risk of courage is accepted; in which a philosophy of political action is stated in terms so clear that upon it, his own party, and even his opponents, must stand or fall. I quote him:

"I believe very deeply that the protection of human liberty under God by constitutional government under law as we have developed it in this country is the finest flower of the mind of man. Our country is one of the few nations on earth where every one of us is still free to choose his own mode of life, to think, to speak, to worship as he will. We still have the unique privilege in this country of electing at regular intervals those who will represent us in government and we have the priceless privilege of knowing that if we don't like them we can put them out of office on a given date in the comparatively near future. . . ."

As for himself, he said: "It's true that dire threats of political reprisals have been made by reason of my sponsorship of this bill and for my signature which enacted it into law. I am not concerned with them. No man should take an oath of office to support the Constitution in which he believes if he is willing to betray it for political purposes or to allow the institution of free government to be undermined or destroyed by its enemies."

The challenge of the enemy he meets with frontal force: ". . . Every weak government is game for the Communists, who conspire to weaken it and then use its weakness to destroy it and put a dictatorship in its place. One of their most useful devices is the strike which paralyzes government, for when government stops functioning then their small, well-disciplined minority can take over. The fate of nations after nation, all over the world, still hangs in the balance. There cannot, there will not, there must not be any such paralysis of government in our state or our nation."

That will be the foreign and domestic issue in 1948. No matter how time-serving politicians will try to dodge it, it will face them. It has already forced Truman, Vandenberg, Stassen and Taft to alter their own programs and attitudes; it will force every aspirant to the Presidency to declare himself, even as Henry Wallace and Claude Pepper have declared themselves. Dewey states the issue flatly and accepts all the risk of an uncompromising position. It is magnificently courageous. (Copyright 1947, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That Body of Yours
By James W. Barton, M. D.

It is interesting to hear mothers talk about their children and when the youngster got his first tooth, took his first step, said his first word, first smiled, and other accomplishments. That all children, even normal children, children in the same family do not do the same things at the same age is true and that whether the baby smiles because he is pleased or because he has gas on his stomach creates many arguments. It is interesting then to get authoritative information on the development of a child during the first year.

In the Journal of Pediatrics (diseases of children) Dr. C. A. Aldrich and M. A. Norval give the twelve steps in the development of nerve and muscle growth, chosen for study in an unselected group of 215 infants observed in a well baby clinic. Each step corresponded roughly to another month of development.

1. Smile—the baby begins to smile in response to an adult or his voice.
2. Vocal—the infant utters such sounds as "ah," "eh," and "uh," with or without stimulation.
3. Head control—when an infant is lying on his hands, state from lying down to the sitting position, the head does not fall back or sideways, but is supported by the muscles in front part of neck.
4. Hand control—when a toy is dangled in the mid-line above his chest, the infant is able to close in on the toy with one or both hands and grasp it.
5. Roll—the infant makes a complete roll from the back to the abdomen.
6. Sit—the baby sits alone for several months.
7. Crawl—the baby is able to move across the room or pen to some distant object, by rolling over and over, pushing himself along on his stomach or back or other methods.
8. Prehension—using thumb and first finger to pick up a small object such as a colored button.
9. Pull-up—the infant pulls himself to a standing position.
10. Walk with support—the infant walks by holding to his play pen or furniture.
11. Stands alone—without any support infant stands alone for several months.
12. Walk alone—the infant takes several steps alone.

Naturally there will be some variations to the above, in a healthy child.

more rapidly than had been appreciated. Valleys and plateaus free from snow and ice now have been found scattered far and wide over Antarctica. In the South American sector of the Antarctic continent the Byrd expedition found two cases with ice-free lakes.

This does not mean that the Solar Polar regions are yet warm enough to be habitable. There's no hope for aid against housing shortage there for quite a while. They do give hope, however, of becoming livable within the next few hundred years. Many a vet and his family feel as if they had already waited that long.

Newsprint Rations May Leave U. S. in Hole, Williams Says

New York, April 23 (AP)—Cranston Williams, general manager of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, in a report to A.N.P.A.'s 65th annual convention today said rationing was not the solution to the newsprint shortage and that evidence showed it might even result in a reduction of the supply available for U. S. consumption.

Williams said "political pressure" was being exerted to restore rationing but that "those best informed believe it would be futile."

"Not a single newspaper has suspended publication for lack of newsprint as the sole cause," Williams said.

"Controlling the use does not make newsprint available automatically to those not now getting all they want," the report said. "Rationing would not restore adequate distribution to the merchant, or jobber, or distributor."

"Rationing during wartime was not easy and it was afflicted with pain evident to those desiring to cooperate with their government in time of war. . . ."

"If newsprint is rationed all uses of pulpwood would have to be controlled."

"All newspapers do not have as much as they want and not all distress is in publishing weekly, small daily newspapers and scores of specialized publications. There are some large newspapers which could make out a good distress case."

Today in Washington

Republicans and Democrats, to Extent of More Than Two-Thirds in Senate, Back Aid Plan

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 23 — More than two-thirds of the United States Senate now have voted to support the American policy in Greece and Turkey.

The vote came from both Republicans and Democrats—in fact, there were more Republicans than Democrats. This is an event of paramount significance. It is indeed a contrast with what happened after World War I in the Senate, when the Republicans declined to go along with the proposal for American entry into the League of Nations.

The vote on the Greek-Turkish question is far more important than any vote for ratification of either the U. N. or the league. It is a vote that directly appropriates American funds to support free peoples as far distant as the Near East. No appropriation of such size has ever been made in peacetime in connection with a European country, though large sums have from time to time been extended to China.

It is not the amount of money but the principle involved that is of major importance. Approval by the House appears to be a foregone conclusion, so it may be said now that the Congress is backing up the President in announcing to the world America's recognition of the plight of small countries.

The move, of course, is aimed at Russian Communism and particularly at the attempts of the Moscow Government to infiltrate inside Greece and Turkey and cause governments there to be weakened and overthrown so that Communist regimes can come into power.

The Russians deny that they are doing anything in Greece or Turkey. Presumably they would deny that they have any connection with Communists in other countries. But the facts of Russian intervention in Greece and Turkey are well known and the American appropriation is intended to bolster both Greece and Turkey so that they can overcome the infiltration of Communists.

Opponents of the bill which has just passed the Senate looked at the materialistic side and endeavored to prove that the United States was embarking on a policy of profligate lending or spending in other countries of the world or the situation is by no means hopeless, even though it has discouraging aspects. Firmness by the United States and votes such as the Senate recorded on the Greek-Turkish question will sooner or later impress the Russian people as they slowly but surely discover the truth.

Auto Assembly Lines Are Turning Cars Out Rapidly

By DAVID J. WILKIE
(Associated Press Automobile Editor)

Detroit, April 23 (AP)—The automobile industry's assembly lines, which required nearly eight months to produce their first million passenger cars in 1946, turned the trick this year in a little less than 16 weeks.

The factories are aiming at another million passenger vehicles before July 1; they will realize that objective barring a serious worsening of the supply situation of major labor difficulties.

Meanwhile truck production is proceeding at the highest peacetime rate in the industry's history. Up until and including today the factories in the United States so far this year have assembled approximately 1,000,000 passenger cars and 410,000 commercial units.

This output total was achieved despite numerous minor interruptions to the flow of supplies and to assembly line operations; in any appraisal of its significance it means the industry is on a normal pre-war production basis. Demand, however, still is far in excess of normal proportions.

Anything But Easy
It has been anything but easy for the car manufacturers to keep the production level around the 100,000-units-a-week level. Supplies are coming to the assembly plants by motor truck instead of by freight train; nuts and bolts have been moved by airplane; purchasing agents have had to devote considerably more time to the finding of sources than ever before.

Altogether these factors have added materially to the car makers' production costs; right now they stand in the way of any major price cuts.

The drive for a 1947 production volume of 4,000,000 passenger cars and 1,000,000 or more commercial vehicles, of course, could be completely upset by a prolonged work stoppage. But, regardless of the strike notice filed by the C.I.O. United Automobile Workers against Chrysler Corp. and the fact wage negotiations throughout the industry are yet to be completed, there are few among the industry experts who look for major strikes this year.

Secret Planning
New model planning of most of the car makers continues to be cloaked in secrecy, but rumors are current that dealers for at least one large producer will start booking orders after June 1, exclusively for 1948 models.

Many would-be car buyers seeking to place orders now are stipulating delivery of 1948 models. Not a few instances dealers are declining to book them on that basis, although many of the orders already on file quite probably will have to be filled with 1948 models.

SHOKAN

Shokan, April 22—Frank Sharwell of Route 28 has written local friends from Los Angeles where he has been spending a few days. Mr. Sharwell made the trip to California to visit his two sisters.

Otis Wright is doing a painting job at the home of his cousin, Miss Elizabeth Giles.

Kenneth Olson of Brooklyn spent the week-end at his camp along the Ridge Road. Kenneth was accompanied here by his father-in-law, Hilmer Sorenson, and Frank Doyle, both of Brooklyn.

Shokan people were glad to learn through The Freeman society columns that Mr. and Mrs. Frank VanEtten of Port Ewen have rounded out 50 years of wedded life. The VanEtten's were residents of the old village and they have a bungalow near Mrs. VanEtten's girlhood home here.

Monday, April 22, 1907: Chief topic of conversation throughout Ulster was shaking of first big Ashokan plum tree at court house on Saturday. Atmosphere in supreme court chambers was tense as Senator Linson announced to assembled lawyers that Josiah J. Hasbrouck, F. J. R. Clarke and Isaiah Fuller had been chosen as commission to condemn lands and appraise properties in Parcel No. 1 of the Ashokan Reservoir area. A number of small "trees" had previously been shaken but here, at last, was the first fall of more luscious plums, of which there were to be only a limited number. It was indeed a great day in Plimland.

A number of new buildings are going up along Route 28 between Shokan and Kingston with much of the activity being in the Glenford sector. New construction is confined mostly to bungalows and garages, including one large public garage.

Otto Rast has received a shipment of fruit trees for the improvement of his state road place, the one time William Shults property.

Louis Thiel has invested in a motor bicycle, the first locally-owned bike of its kind in these parts. "Lou" has been pushing a bicycle for many years but now, at the age of 70, he feels that a little mechanical assistance will serve to expedite his trips to the store and the bullheads fishing grounds.

Emery Lukas is putting up three new bungalows at his Camp Temerada along the East Butternutkill. The site of the buildings is the old apple orchard, the trees having been removed last year. Other innovations at the camp include a handball court on the playgrounds and a new lawn adjoining the three-story main house. The carpentry and grounds work is being done, respectively, by T. J. Learey of Long Island and C. V. Mason of Vermont, who are living at the camp.

Recently, a local fisherman was rather surprised upon opening one of his catch to find therein some 15 smaller fry. The incident may provide a tip to sportsmen who have been finding the trout quite indifferent to worms this spring. However, one visiting sportsman, Mr. O'Reilly of the Broadway stationery store, lifted a fine trout from west basin waters in the Bridal Veil Falls stream environs the other day. Fisherman O'Reilly has now invested in a boat which will be moored somewhere along the Shokan side of the big pond.

Charles Greene has bought a new horse and is again using a team at his state road fruit farm. Fred Markle of Ashokan is assisting Mr. Greene in preparing ground for berry plantings and other early farm work.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Grossman have sold their large boarding house and farm on Route 28 to Charles Selinger of New York, who

Eggs Are Economical

Now while eggs are so plentiful, use them in your menus generously. They are a wonderful food and there is no waste.

Eggburgers (Serves 6)

Six eggs, 2 tablespoons fat for frying, 6 round buns, 6 slices cheese, 1 medium size onion, cut into 1/8-inch rings, salt and pepper, chili sauce, chopped pickle relish, or mustard.

Split buns, lay halves, split side up on baking sheet; then on the "top" halves, place cheese slices. Toast in hot oven (425 deg. F.) or under broiler until cheese begins to melt, and other halves are toasted. Meanwhile, fry eggs medium firm, turning once; season. Place eggs on toasted halves. Top with onion rings. Serve hot, "open or closed." Pass relishes.

Eggs 'n' Chips (Serves 5-6)

Six hard-cooked eggs, sliced, 1 cup (10 to 11 oz.) condensed cream of mushroom soup, 1/2 cup milk, 2 tablespoons onion, finely chopped, 2 cups crushed potato chips (about 4 oz.), salt and pepper.

Blend soup, milk and onion. Arrange in layers in a well-greased 1-quart casserole: half of the potato chips; eggs, seasoning layer with salt and pepper; soup mixture; and the remaining chips. Bake in a moderately hot oven (400 deg. F.) about 25 minutes, or until sauce is bubbly.

Eggs a la Suisse (Serves 2)

Four eggs, 1 tablespoon fat for frying, 1/2 cup light cream, 2 tablespoons cracker or bread crumbs, salt, pepper, cayenne, buttered toast.

Melt fat in pan. Add cream and heat to bubbling. Slip in eggs, one at a time; cook gently. When whites are almost firm, sprinkle crumbs over top. Cover and continue cooking to desired doneness. Transfer eggs to toast. Pour the "pan cream" over all. Season with salt, pepper and a dash of cayenne.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

Resourceful Commissioner
Portland, Ore., April 23 (AP)—City Commissioner Fred L. Peterson believes he has the answer to complaints of excessive public "necking" in a downtown plaza park after dark.

Cupid took a quick exit after the city installed new mercury vapor lighting which turns lipstick and face makeup to ghostly hues.

Close Call
Denver, April 23 (AP)—Patrolman Ira Marlette and C. Martin Johnson attended the policemen's ball as scheduled last night—but a skunk almost kept them away.

Cruising in suburban Denver, they came upon the skunk. Denver policemen can't shoot skunks—they have orders to bring them to the city zoo alive.

They trailed the skunk for three blocks, and breathed a sigh of relief as he ambled into adjoining Arapahoe county. Then they turned back to the ball.

Absent-Minded
Seattle, Wash., April 23 (AP)—The absent-minded professor story had a parallel at the national convention of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation. Dr. Elizabeth Burehonal of New York city, president of the American Folk Dance Society, was to have illustrated her talk with sound movies, but the films failed to arrive.

Investigation showed the Harvard University Film Library had addressed the films to "Seattle Hotel, Washington, D. C.", instead of to Seattle, Wash.

New Era
Yakima, Wash., April 23 (AP)—A helicopter put the old cowhands to shame in the annual buffalo roundup on the foothills grazing ranges northeast of here.

After the mounted cowboys were able to locate only part of the 60-head of the O. D. Gibson herd yesterday, pilot Tommy Hall took to the ranges in his helicopter. He soon flushed the stragglers out of their hideaways.

Minor Event
Chicago, April 23 (AP)—Douglas Maurer, 9, fell off his bicycle on the Rock Island Railroad tracks last night and scammed to safety just before a train crushed the vehicle.

"My dad'll get me a new bike," he assured police, as though more concerned about that than his narrow escape.

Kollin Will Address
Civil Service Employees

Featured speaker at The Civil Service Employees' Association, Inc., next Monday, 8 p. m., in the city court room, will be Stanley Kollin of Albany.

Mr. Kollin, a member of the Department of Civil Service of the State of New York, is thoroughly conversant with all civil service matters. A full attendance of members is urged.

All output of Iran's new arms factory will go to Russia.

Noah Webster, the maker of the dictionary, carried his exact knowledge as to the meaning of words into ordinary speech. A story told of him—which is, of course, untrue—illustrates the point.

Noah's wife entered the kitchen to find him kissing the cook. "Why, Noah," she exclaimed, "I am surprised!"

The lexicographer regarded his wife disapprovingly, and rebuked her: "You are astonished—I am surprised."

Eloquent Silence

"It simply left me speechless!" cried my neighbor, Mrs. Flowers, the thing that left her speechless, though. She talked about for hours.

—Leo J. Burke

Are you easily discouraged? Then you are thinking too much about yourself and too little about a better way to employ your time.

Cook—Yes, ma'am, I'm leavin' in exactly three minutes. Mrs. West—Then put the eggs on to boil and we'll have them right for once.

Wife (referring to guest)—He's a most attractive man; is he married?

Husband—I dunno. He's a reserved chap—keeps all his troubles to himself.

"The fellow who continues pulling on the ears does not have much time to rock the boat."

Judge—You are fined ten dollars.

Mrs. Bargains (absent-mindedly)—Sorry, but that's a little more than I care to pay.

Young Lady (at counter)—I want to see some gloves.

Clerk—What kind, kid?

Young Lady—Sir, how dare you?

Swears Is Named To Commission by Governor Dewey

Albany, N. Y., April 23 (AP)—Leon F. Swears of Johnstown, Fulton County Republican chairman, was appointed to the state Athletic Commission today by Governor Dewey.

Swears, 52, a knitting mill owner, succeeds the late Gen. John J. Phelan on the three-member commission which regulates professional boxing and wrestling in New York and handles state taxes on amateur shows.

The appointment, subject to senate confirmation, was to a three-year term expiring January 1, 1950, the governor's office said. The job pays $25 daily for attendance at meetings.

Swears is a Republican leader in the district represented by veteran G.O.P. Senator Fred A. Young of Lowville, who asked the 1947 legislature to order a sweeping investigation of professional and amateur sports.

Young's demand for a probe came as a sequel to the expose of an attempted "fix" of a championship professional football game, between the New York Giants and Chicago Bears, which resulted in the recent conviction of several Broadway gambling figures.

Swears' appointment followed by a few weeks the Athletic Commission's action in revoking the license of middleweight Rocky Graziano. He was accused of failing to report a purported bribe offer to "throw" a fight with Ruben Shank in which Graziano was the betting choice. The bout was canceled when Graziano claimed he had injured himself training.

There's No Connection
Young said today the Swears' appointment had no connection with his demand for a legislative probe of sports. Swears had no comment "right now" on his appointment.

The Athletic Commission has been functioning with two members since Phelan's death January 22, 1946. They are Edward P. F. Eagan of Rye, chairman and Cilian B. Powell of New York city, both Dewey appointees.

Governor Dewey's announcement said that Swears had been "interested in boxing since boyhood days" and that he had "attended nearly every major boxing event in this state in the past 20 years."

The new commissioner is a director of the Gloversville-Johnstown club of the Canadian-American Baseball League and a member of the Johnstown board of Education.

Johnstown Native

Swears, a native of Johnstown, operates three knitting mills which he established there in 1921. His appointment gives upstate New York representation on the commission for the first time since the resignation of D. Walker Wear of Binghamton in October, 1944.

Phelan, long-time chairman of the commission by Democratic appointment, was selected by Dewey to succeed Wear in January, 1945, when Phelan's term as chairman expired. At the same time the governor appointed Eagan to the $7,500 chairman's job.

The Swear appointment ended speculation concerning the possible appointment of Dan Parker, a sports editor, Nat Fleischer, a boxing magazine publisher, and Tommy Loughran, former light heavyweight boxing champion, all of New York city.

Mrs. George Shultis, president of Kingston W.C.T.U., will represent the local chapter at the W.C.T.U. convention at Convention Hall, Asbury Park, N. J., June 5 to 10. Her appointment as a delegate was made at the regular meeting Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Anna Goodsell and Mrs. Minnie Dunnagan of 29 Green street.

Youth" was the program topic. Considering Christian youth programs, Mrs. Dunnagan said, "Immediately after Easter 1947, area councils and annual conferences of the Methodist Church would resound with a new determination for real temperance. In the 1947 Youth Institutes the theme and refrain will be 'Temperance.'"

Methodism plans to march against the liquor traffic and from January to Easter 1948 every local church will be "alerted."

Mrs. Dunnagan said "The International Luther League" representing 80,000 young people recognizes the liquor traffic as a great obstacle to Christian living. The league has called upon the youth of our land to take a firm stand against the rising tide of intemperance and the liquor traffic."

Mrs. John B. Steketee reported on Youth crimes and quoted J. Edgar Hoover, "The arrest of girls under 18 years of age has increased 198 per cent since 1939; while the arrests of boys under 18 have increased 72 per cent for assault, 55 per cent for auto thefts and 100 per cent for drunkenness and driving while intoxicated." Mrs. Steketee said crime costs $15,000,000,000 a year in the United States.

A paper written by Mrs. Henry Bartsch was read by Mrs. Sherry. The topic, "A False Road to Fortune" or gambling. She stated "Gambling is sufficiently strong to dominate life. It not only violates law but destroys life and violates the law of love which is unchristian."

The Sunday School Department of the First Dutch Reformed Church has been studying the curriculum and methods of the Union College Character Research Project as it is used in several churches throughout the country. Since the plan encompasses the full cooperation of the parents in the home, the Sunday School Department will conduct a panel discussion Thursday evening, May 8, for parents and all interested in the Sunday school of the church. The purpose of the parents' meeting is to ascertain their point of view on this advanced approach to religious education.

The religious basis of the project is the Sermon on the Mount tied in with a character study of the individual child that endeavors to foster those traits that make for leadership in adult life. ## Rep. Macy Again to Lead Nat'l Republican Club

New York, April 23 (AP)—Rep. W. Kingsland Macy, of Suffolk county, was reelected for a third term as president of the National Republican Club last night after a bitter contest in which he was opposed by City Councilman Edward Rager, club recording secretary.

The unofficial count showed Macy received 1,703 of the 1,949 votes cast, to 239 for Rager. Seven ballots were void or blank. Macy carried his entire administration ticket into office.

Rager had charged that the club was packed with supporters of Governor Thomas E. Dewey for the party's presidential nomination and that the club was becoming too local in character and was losing its national prestige. However, Macy's election had been considered a foregone conclusion after seven candidates on the Rager ticket withdrew and announced their support of the incumbent president.

Fare Rise Hearing For Hartford Line Concluded in Day

I.C.C. Panel Hears 2 Vice Presidents, Commuter Groups and Town Officials

New York, April 23, (AP)—Hearing on a petition by the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad for permission to increase its commuter fares by 20 per cent was concluded in one day yesterday by an Interstate Commerce Commission panel.

Two vice presidents of the railroad testified and the panel also heard opposing views expressed by representatives of commuter groups and state and town officials.

The panel is scheduled to hear tomorrow a petition for a fare increase by the Long Island Railroad which comes under I.C.C. jurisdiction, because it sells commuter tickets from Long Island points to Newark, N. J.

Frank J. Wall, vice president of the New Haven, said the petition to increase fares "is only one of several steps that are being taken to secure the added revenue that is necessary to cover the increases in expenses that have occurred during and subsequent to the war in the operation of the New Haven's passenger service."

Wall declared that interstate communication traffic which moved between stations in Connecticut and New York accounted for 90.1 per cent of the New Haven's total interstate communication revenue.

Wall said that he believed that "the public in general and our commuters in particular, know and understand the tremendous increases which the New Haven has incurred during the past few years in the form of increased wages and increased cost of material and supplies, including fuel."

Pelham Attorney Questions
Emanuel Schwartz, attorney for the town of Pelham, asked Wall whether the railroad had achieved any economy in operation because commuters who had tickets could for any day in the week used them only during the five day work-week.

Wall said that the economy to the railroad was almost nothing except in the value of the fuel saved.

Schwartz objected to figures introduced during the morning session by George T. Carmichael, vice president of the New Haven, showing that operation expenses were greater during the first quarter of 1947 than they were during 1946 and quoted from testimony at a Connecticut state hearing to show that a freight wreck and snowstorm had cost the road more than $300,000 during the 1947 period and had been included in the figure.

In answer to questions by Schwartz, Wall said New Haven fares were higher than any other railroad coming into New York, with the exception of Pennsylvania railroad trains coming into Pennsylvania Station. He said also that 1946 revenue was the highest since 1931.

Herbert Askwith of Larchmont, representing a group of commuters, said that New Haven fares were 20 per cent higher than comparable fares on the New York Central and declared that Westchester county is made up largely of people of "modest income" who should not be burdened with the extra cost of commutation service.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 23 (AP)—The stock market settled into an irregular pattern today after three advancing sessions.

Industrials and rails showed reviving tendencies after early drops, but many pivots stayed in losing territory. The ticker tape slowed virtually to a crawl after a fairly active opening, with changes held largely to fractions.

Near the fourth hour the list had a well-mixed appearance.

Trading reverted to a largely professional basis, with customers reported by brokers to be avoiding commitments awaiting outcome of labor and tax legislation and a clearer view of the effects of the new wage settlements. Prospects of uninterrupted production and further favorable first quarter earnings heartened bullish contingents.

On the outside much of the day was General Motors, Goodrich, U. S. Rubber, Chesapeake & Ohio, Owens-Illinois, United Carbon and Baltimore & Ohio.

Recovering balance were Chrysler, Bethlehem, Southern Pacific and Schenley.

Strongly up were American Woolen, Joy Manufacturing, Union Pacific, Kayser (on an extra dividend), Air Reduction, Public Service of N. J., and Eastman Kodak.

Bonds were steady and commodities easier.

ostensibly for rubbish fires which are numerous in that section of the city.

Threatening Blaze
When the firemen arrived they noticed that the blaze was of such proportions that the possibility of it having started as a rubbish fire was promptly eliminated. The flames already were roaring through a loading platform and warehouse door and the frame on the westerly end of the building. In one spot the fire had reached the inside and had traveled to the roof of the building.

One truck from the Central Station answered the first alarm but additional equipment from Central and Wiltwyck stations was summoned when the firemen realized that the fire had the potentialities of a major conflagration. Speedy work by the firemen checked the burst of the fire in a short time but the fire fighters stayed on the scene until nearly midnight before returning trucks and equipment to the fire stations.

Had the blaze remained undiscovered until it gained greater headway, it is evident that a more serious conflagration would have developed, the chief stated. The building where the fire started, while disconnected from the large shirt factory structure itself, would have been but a feeder to smaller buildings which were in the vicinity and in a direct line extending to the main building.

The building, a large frame structure about 100 feet long and 35 feet wide, was formerly part of the old Palen frame warehouses and is owned by the Jelico Realty Company of Kingston. It is used by the James S. Fuller Company for the storage of shipping cartons.

Lawes' last undertaking in the penology field was a survey of the Massachusetts state prison at Charlestown for Gov. Maurice J. Tobin, completed last year.

He had been in failing health for about a year and a half, but recently was able to give radio talks on several successive Sundays.

Joined W.P.B. in '42
In 1942, Lawes joined the War Production Board to coordinate prison industries for the production of war materials. He held that post until 1945.

Born in Elmira, N. Y., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lewis Lawes, he joined the regular army when he was 18 and served until 1904. The next year he became a guard at Dannemora prison, and went from there to the Elmira reformatory as recording clerk. His next post was that of warden of New York city's Hart's Island reformatory. He was transferred to the New York city reformatory at New Hampton as warden, shortly before becoming warden at Sing Sing, January 1, 1920.

SHOKAN

Shokan, April 22—Frank Sharwell of Route 28 has written local friends from Los Angeles where he has been spending a few days. Mr. Sharwell made the trip to California to visit his two sisters.

Otis Wright is doing a painting job at the home of his cousin, Miss Elizabeth Giles.

Kenneth Olson of Brooklyn spent the week-end at his camp along the Ridge Road. Kenneth was accompanied here by his father-in-law, Hulmer Sorenson, and Frank Doyle, both of Brooklyn.

Shokan people were glad to learn through The Freeman society columns that Mr. and Mrs. Frank VanEtten of Port Ewen have rounded out 50 years of wedded life. The VanEtten's were residents of the old village and they have a bungalow near Mrs. VanEtten's childhood home here.

Monday, April 22, 1907. Chief topic of conversation throughout Ulster was shaking of just big Ashokan plum tree at court house on Saturday. Atmosphere in supreme court chambers was tense as Senator Linson announced to assembled lawyers that Josiah J. Hasbrouck, F. J. R. Clarke and Isiah Fuller had been chosen as commission to condemn lands and appraise properties in Parcel No. 1 of the Ashokan Reservoir area. A number of small "trees" had previously been shaken but here, at last, was the first fall of more luscious plums, of which there were to be only a limited number. It was indeed a great day in Plantland.

A number of new buildings are going up along Route 28 between Shokan and Kingston with much of the activity being in the Glenford sector. New construction is confined mostly to bungalows and garages, including one large public garage.

Otto Raab has received a shipment of fruit trees for the improvement of his state road place, the one time William Shultis property.

Louis Thiel has invested in a motor bicycle, the first locally-owned bike of its kind in these parts. "Lou" has been pushing a bicycle for many years but now, at the age of 70, he feels that a little mechanical assistance will serve to expedite his trips to the store and the bullheads fishing grounds.

Emory Lukas is putting up three new bungalows at his Camp Teacuda along the East Butternutkill. The site of the buildings is the old apple orchard, the trees having been removed last year. Other improvements at the camp include a handball court on the playground, and a new lawn adjoining the three-story main house. The carpentry and grounds work is being done, respectively, by T. J. Leary of Long Island and C. V. Mason of Vermont, who are living at the camp.

Recently, a local fisherman was rather surprised upon opening one of his catch to find therein some 15 smaller fry. The incident may provide a tip to sportsmen who have been finding the trout quite indifferent to worms this spring. However, one visiting sportsman, Mr. O'Reilly of the Broadway stationery store, lifted a fine trout from west basin waters in the Bidal Veil Falls stream environs the other day. Fisherman O'Reilly has now invested in a boat which will be moored somewhere along the Shokan side of the big pond.

Charles Greene has bought a new horse and is again using a team at his state road fruit farm. Fred Markle of Ashokan is assisting Mr. Greene in preparing ground for berry plantings and other early farm work.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Grossman having sold their large boarding house and farm on Route 28 to Charles Selinger of New York, will remain in Shokan this summer. The couple recently bought a house in Miami and plan to go there next winter. The Grossman main house and annex has been accommodating a sixty summer boarder each season for the past several years. This is the former John D. Ennist place, early home of Mrs. William Longyear. Mrs. Donald Everett and Mrs. Arthur Oudemast, all of Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McCafferty of New York were at their mountain road place over the week-end.

Eggs Are Economical

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Now while eggs are so plentiful, use them in your menus generously. They are a nutritious food and there is no waste.

Eggburgers

(Serves 6)

Six eggs, 2 tablespoons fat for frying, 6 round buns, 6 slices cheese, 1 medium size onion, cut into 1/8 inch rings, salt and pepper, chili sauce, chopped pickle relish, or mustard.

Split buns, lay halves, split side up, on baking sheet; then on the "top" halves, place cheese slices. Toast in broiler (425 deg. F.) or under broiler until cheese begins to melt, and other halves are toasted. Meanwhile, fry eggs medium firm, turning once; season. Place eggs on toasted halves. Top with onion rings. Serve hot, "open or closed." Pass relishes.

Eggs 'n' Chips

(Serves 5-6)

Six hard-cooked eggs, sliced, 1 can (10 to 11 oz.) condensed cream of mushroom soup, 1/2 cup milk, 2 tablespoons onion, finely chopped, 2 cups crushed potato chips (about 4 oz.), salt and pepper.

Mix soup, milk and onion. Arrange in layers in a well-greased 1-quart casserole: half of the potato chips, eggs, seasoning layer with salt and pepper, soup mixture, and the remaining chips. Bake in a moderately hot oven (400 deg. F.) about 25 minutes, or until sauce is bubbly.

Eggs a la Suisse

(Serves 3)

Four eggs, 1 tablespoon fat for frying, 2 cup light cream, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, salt, pepper, cayenne, buttered toast.

Melt fat in pan. Add cream and heat to bubbling. Slip in eggs, one at a time, cook gently. When whites are almost firm, sprinkle crumbs over top. Cover and continue cooking to desired doneness. Transfer eggs to toast. Pour the "pan or am" over all. Season with salt, pepper and a dash of cayenne.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Orange juice, ready-to-eat cereal, rice griddle cakes, butter or fortified margarine, honey, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Egg 'n' chips, sliced tomatoes, whole wheat bread, butter or fortified margarine, fruit cup, sweet crackers, tea, milk.

Dodgers Await Batting Practice Drills at Municipal Stadium

Joe Havens Joins Local Hill Staff; Others Drill Here

With opening day less than two weeks away, Manager George Scherger of the Kingston Dodgers is sending his local charges through extensive workouts at the New York State Armory. The Dodgers, who arrived here Monday, will open the home schedule of the North Atlantic League at Municipal stadium Saturday afternoon, May 3.

Team Drills Indoors

Unfavorable weather conditions forced the Dodger hopefuls indoors immediately upon their arrival in Kingston from their spring training base at Thomasville, N. C. A break in the weather, however, will find the club working out at the stadium within the next couple of days.

"The boys have been looking very good at their indoor drills," Paul Taylor, business manager, announced this morning. "However," Paul continued, "Manager Scherger is anxious to get some hitting practice in and as a result is patiently awaiting the chance to see his charges perform under the sun."

Since the Dodgers arrived in Kingston the daily rehearsals at the state armory have been confined to battery and defensive training. All of the pitchers have begun to loosen up while infielders, trying to polish up their work on cutoff plays, have been going through their paces without let-up. Business Manager Taylor also predicted a fast team to represent Kingston in the Class D circuit this summer. "Manager Scherger has a number of speedsters on his roster and other teams in the loop can look forward to seeing a fast team when Kingston takes the field."

Manager Scherger, who has waxed optimistic about his present pitching staff, was further elated today with the announcement that Joe Havens of Poughkeepsie had joined the Dodgers. Havens worked out with the local group in North Carolina but went home early with the advice to report at Kingston. Havens is no stranger to Hudson valley baseball fans who expect him to make the grade and become one of the mound stalwarts.

Two Haven't Reported

Of the roster released today by Business Manager Taylor only Frank Verbanac and Ken Braun haven't reported. Verbanac, infielder from Detroit, is unaccounted for. Braun, a pitcher who hails from Brooklyn, will report opening day. He will be married this week.

Meanwhile, plans were still going ahead today for the public reception to the Dodgers by the Kingston Chamber of Commerce scheduled for May 3 prior to the home opening of the North Atlantic League campaign.

A number of Brooklyn Dodger notables including Branch Rickey, Jr., and Fresno Thompson, are expected to attend. Tickets, which are open to the public, may be purchased at the Chamber of Commerce office or through the Kiwanis, Rotary or Lions Clubs.

Brooklyn (Broadway Arena)—Jimmy Warren, 134½, knocked out Cyril Gallie, 139½, Cardiff, Wales, 1.
Jersey City — Tommy Baker, 126½, Cliffside Park, N. J., T.K.O. Frankie Gerrard, 124¾, Toledo, 2.
Elizabeth, N. J.—Curtis Moore, 155½, Newark, knocked out Jimmy Isler, 148½, Newark, 8.

Feller and Gregg Toss One-Hit Games

Three Men ... Three Beauties

Joe Nagy, left, Delaware avenue barber, and Charles "Chipe" Rhymer, right, well-known basketball star, proudly display the prize trout catches of the season, while Frank Cohen, of Frank's Sport Shop, looks on. Rhymer's trout, a beautiful 5 pound, one ounce, 23-inch Rainbow snatched in the Ashokan reservoir, is the best reported to date. Nagy displays trout weighing three and a quarter and three and a half pounds each. Both fish were caught with live bait.

In The Pocket

with CHARLIE TIANO

The spirited tempo of the first organizational gathering of the City Baseball League managers and sponsors was the harbinger of a new baseball era for the city, and furnished fairly conclusive evidence that local baseball will not suffer because of the advent of minor league ball, a sports luxury the city hasn't sampled in more than 30 years.

It was a lively, interested group of young managers, bright-eyed and eager for the 1947 campaign that met with Warren Smith for the preliminary discussions. The turnout of 15 franchisees came as a great surprise. Nobody figured there were that many people interested in a twilight circuit. Certainly not after the mediocre success of the 1946 campaign.

We question the advisability of anything more than an eight-team league. Some method must be found to eliminate the squads that obviously would not measure up to pre-war City League standards. It does not necessarily follow that these players be deprived of a chance to play. The sensible solution is to pool the best players on the rosters eliminated from franchises and distribute them among the eight of ten teams selected.

The reorganization of the league poses several questions for the managers. The success or failure of the baseball-at-dusk circuit depends on the officials and managers who must first put their house in order before they can expect steady patronage from the baseball public of Kingston. It is and has been a good baseball public. But the City League managers, facing stiff competition from the Class D franchise, must effect vast improvements over the hit-and-miss league that operated at the municipal stadium.

The Athletic Field with its rich tradition of City League campaigns is the logical stamping grounds for the loop. The Cornell street diamond is steeped in baseball tradition of powerhouses like Jimmy Morgan's Repealers, Schryver Lumber, Kyanize, Postmills, Forst, Tailets, Crystal Gardens and a host of others. They were great ball clubs and the City League was the hub of all baseball activities in the county. Whether a return to such preeminence is possible is highly problematical. But there is still considerable baseball talent on the hoof in Ulster county and if it is channeled into the City League, the contributing customers will see plenty of good action.

However, these same teams and ball players will have to learn to start ball games on schedule, uniform and properly equip the squads and adhere rigidly to the schedule, except in cases of emergency. The City League operated too sloppily last year. It can't afford to make that mistake in 1947, and we know that it won't.

The league could use a strong individual of the Jack Hartman type as secretary, but unfortunately you don't shake them off trees. Jack has retired from the baseball scene and falling eyesight makes it impossible for him to act as official scorer. He was responsible in a large measure for the great City Leagues of yesteryear.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM

Kaye Sportswear came through in the clutch for the second week in a row in downing Tillie Taylor's high powered lineup. . . . Most of all, the two victories over Schenectady and New York, reasserted the inviolability of team play over the efforts of individual stars. . . . Normally you would expect Kaye's to suffer badly without the services of either Evelyn Moore or Rose Schatzel, the one-two punch of the squad. Rose missed the Schenectady match, while Evelyn was absent Saturday night. . . . Kaye's won both matches by 31 pins in a brilliant exhibition of teamwork and balance. . . . With Evelyn and Rose in the lineups the Kaye margin of victory would have been greater, but the important fact is that they won. . . . Then again, not every team can come up with an invalid like Marge Jansen and coax 578 out of her.

Benny Leonard's death was a terrific shock to the boxing world. . . . Leonard who never had his hair mussed in a major engagement, will rank as the greatest lightweight of all time. . . . His death marks a distinct loss for the sports world. . . . Bill Whalen is undecided about his 1947 Roe Mover baseball plans in Poughkeepsie, and the Poughkeepsie Twilight League is quite concerned about the availability of Riverview Field for Sunday baseball. . . . The battle for use of the Bridge City diamond will develop into a rhubarb yet. . . . Bowling class is asserting itself in the nationals at Los Angeles. . . . Eddie Koepf, Joe Norris and Andy Varipapa in the top five in all-events, and Varipapa, the national match game champion, only two pins off the singles lead with 715. . . . New York's Brunswick Red Crown setting the pace with 3923 in the team event and Johnny Ferraro had better do something about getting that team to Kingston before the season ends. . . . Charlie Broadhead sad about the way the Giants mauled the Dodgers at the Polo Grounds. . . . Charlie reports that "about 70,000 were there." . . . My, my, how that park has grown since last year! . . . Never let it be said that we ended this column without making a note of the fact that Fay Horne recently shot the first 500 triple of her career in league play. . . . Fay and Tess Moss can now get together over a cup of hot chocolate and . . . celebrate.

Indian Ace Hurls Ninth One-Hitter Against St. Louis

By JOE REICHLER

(Associated Press Sports Writer)
He's only 29 but Bobby Feller's lofty position in baseball already is such that hardly a year goes by now without the Major League's strikeout king setting some kind of a record.

And even though the great Cleveland Indians' speedball artist missed almost four years of chances to move further into the record books—and these years right out of the prime of his life—because of wartime service in the navy, Feller's position among the immortals of the game already is assured.

Ninth One-Hitter

In his six full years and two part-time seasons in the big time, Feller has hurled two no-hit and nine one-hitters—his latest the 5-0 blanking of the St. Louis Browns at Cleveland yesterday. Feller set a record for the big leagues last year when he reached eight one-hitters.

The Van Meter, Iowa, phenom after tying the modern Major League strikeout mark of 17 in one game in 1936, his first year in the big leagues, moved out in front by fanning 18 Detroit Tigers in a game two years later. He also set a league record for strikeouts in two consecutive games, 28; and tied another by whiffing six men in succession.

Feller's first no-hitter, April 16, 1940 against the Chicago White Sox, was the first of its kind in a season's opener and he added another against the New York Yankees last year.

Last year he established a recognized season mark of 348 strikeouts.

Brooklyn's Hal Gregg yesterday held the Philadelphia Phillies to a mere safety in shutting them out 1-0 at Ebbets Field. The veteran Emil (Dutch) Leonard matched him almost pitch for pitch until the last half of the eighth when Jackie Robinson, the Dodger's Negro infielder, singled, stole second, continued to third on Catcher Andy Seminick's wild throw to head him off, and scored the all-important run on a single by Gene Hermanski.

Make Hits Count

Although they could wrangle only three hits off the combined pitching of Joe Dobson, Earl Johnson and Harry Dorish, the New York Yankees made them count to the utmost by shading the Boston Red Sox 5-4. Charlie Keller, hit a three-run homer in the first inning and a run-producing single in the eighth.

Three of the Red Sox' nine hits off winning Pitcher Floyd Bevens were four baggers by Ted Williams, Same Mele and Rudy York to account for all Boston's runs. York's blow, with a man aboard, gave the Sox a temporary lead in the eighth.

Miller Pads Redlegs

Eddie Miller, who hit only six home runs in 91 games last year, banged his fifth round-tripper in nine games this year, and added a run-scoring single in the 10th inning to give the Cincinnati Reds a 7-6 victory over the Cubs in Chicago. Bobby Adams and Ray Mueller also weighed in with four-masters as the Cubs used five hurlers in vain. Harry Gumbert, third Cincinnati pitcher, was credited with the win. The heretofore puncheon Reds now have a total of 14 home runs in nine games, easily the best in the majors.

Scheduled games between Washington and Philadelphia and Chicago and Detroit in the American League, and New York and Boston and Pittsburgh and St. Louis in the National League were postponed because of rain and cold weather.

Williams' Shift Has Many Variations

New York, April 23 (P)—Ted Williams ogles the 296-foot right field marker in Yankee Stadium and forgets all his resolutions about hitting to left. He still is having shift trouble.

So far Williams has looked at a different variation of the "Boudreau Shift" from each eastern team. The Philadelphia A's even cooked up something like the Cardinals used in the World Series but Ted fixed that with two hits in the vacated areas.

When the Red Sox head west next week he'll find out what variety of the shift Muddy Ruel, Steve O'Neill and Ted Lyons have worked out. It can't be as bad as the day down south when the entire ball club retired to the sidelines when he came to bat.

"First I thought, I'll show those so and sos," he recalled. "Then I realized it was just a gag. Those fellows must stay up nights thinking up ways to try to get my goat."

D.A. Tells Bowlers Negroes Will Soon Compete in Sport

Although the American Bowling Congress still confines its activities to members of the "Caucasian race," the day is not far off when Negroes will distinguish themselves in the bowling as they have done in every other line of American sports, District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn told the Central Recreation League bowlers last night at the annual banquet at the Evergreen Inn.

The district attorney was the principal speaker at the post-season affair which attracted about 75 persons and which honored the Evergreen keglers as the 1946-47 champions of the intermediate league.

Stanton Warren, league president, was the master of ceremonies. Secretary-Treasurer George Robinson distributed cash awards for the season, while John MacLellan, secretary of the Kings-Bowling Association, awarded the high single medal to Frank Cashara.

Mr. Bruhn said that it was remarkable coincidence that Negroes will serve as grand jurors for the first time in Ulster county in the May term of Supreme court about the same time that the major leagues have opened their portals to a Negro.

Regrets Others Denied

The district attorney said it was regrettable that many Negro baseball stars of the past were denied entry into the big time, mentioning specifically such renowned athletes as Satchel Page, Josh Gibson, Buck Ewing, Buck Leonard, Cannonball Redding and a host of others. He reviewed the track record of Jesse Owens, the magnificent sprinter who made Adolf Hitler vent his spleen at the Berlin Olympics. Joe Louis, of course, stands out as the greatest Negro boxer of all time, the D.A. said.

Bowling and leagues are distinguished by very definite characteristics, Bruhn said. The 190- and-up average bowler has lost much of the fun that bowling may have for the novice. He has become the perfectionist, the automaton, so to speak, in a groove where he seldom does anything wrong.

The 180-190 average bowler group identifies itself by the ambition to achieve the charmed circle—the group that makes mistakes often enough to get some fun out of the game but which finds crashing the 190 bracket just a little too tough.

Bruhn said he preferred to refer to the 170-180 keglers as "the Brooklyn bowlers"—the "wait until next year" collection of tepid busters. They constantly live in hopes that next year by some quirk of fate they will rise to the next higher or highest group.

Next, he concluded, you have the 160-170 group who did wait until next year and made it.

The prize list awarded at last night's banquet follows:

Schatzel-Richards $200 Duel Opens in New York Saturday

A 14-game home and home match for a $200 purse between Kingston's Rose Schatzel and Irene Richards, veteran New York star, will open at Heinemann's Recreation, Hempstead, L.I., Saturday, April 26, at 8:30 p. m.

The final block of seven games is scheduled in Kingston, on Saturday, May 3, at 9 p. m.

The challenge in behalf of Mrs. Richards was made by Hans Kaufman, Long Island bowling expert and the entire proceeds of the first block will be donated to a veterans hospital in the metropolitan area.

For Mrs. Schatzel, who recently represented New York and Canada in the W.B.C. Individual Sweepstakes, the match with Mrs. Richards will mark her third and final singles appearance of the season.

Split Two Matches

The Kingston defeated Mickey Michaels, New York State singles and all-events champion, in a 20-game match in January, and then lost to Ann Karner, of Philadelphia, in 20 games in March.

Although not as well known to the rank and file as either Miss Michaels or Ann Karner, the veteran Irene Richards has been a topnotch bowler in and around New York for the past 15 years.

She has won numerous individual and team titles and would be named on any all-star Met quintet.

At present, Mrs. Richards is in structure at the Heinemann Recreation in Hempstead. She is one of the high average bowlers in the Metropolitan Ladies Major in Newark and regarded as virtually unbeatable on her home drives.

Bus Is Chartered

A group of Rose Schatzel rooters have chartered a bus for the trip to Hempstead, L. I., Saturday when Mrs. Schatzel engages Irene Richards, of New York, in the first block of a home-and-home singles match. Seats on the bus can be reserved by calling the Central Recreation alleys after 5 p. m., or by calling Len Freer, 3599, after 5 p. m. Accommodations are available for 35 passengers.

Ulster Carnival To Open Thursday

Will Feature Former Circus Stars; Many Attractions

Granite State Shows, playing under the auspices of Ulster Hose Company No. 5, will be ready to open at the lot on Albany avenue extension, Thursday, a reporter was told today by W. H. "Duke" Brownell, representative of the carnival from Concord, N. H.

Some of the equipment had arrived as early as last Sunday, but trucks carrying the rest of the show were held up at Bennington, Vt., by a snowstorm, Mr. Brownell said. "Every piece of apparatus will be on the lot for the grand opening, Thursday, though," he assured, "and I'm certain Ulster Hose will be proud of this show."

The Duke, a showman all his life, who boasts of having been with the biggest show on earth, the Ringling-Barnum and Bailey circus, discarded the cloak of modesty in describing Granite Shows. "We have one of the greatest arrays of attractions, shows and rides," he remarked, "all new blue canvas and a marquee second to none."

The free act features the Flying Rooneys, formerly with the Ringling circus. "It's a real thriller," beamed the Duke.

J. W. Ostrander, one of the committee from Ulster Hose, said the fire company booked the carnival on the grounds that was a real treat and expressed the hope that attendance would be large.

Two Civil Cases Settled In County Court Today

In County Court this morning two civil matters were announced settled. Mary Soper against Lacey Burger, a replevin action, and Louis Morello against Fox Maid Frocks, Inc., a breach of contract action.

Jurors were excused until Monday at 2 p. m. when the civil calendar will again be called.

District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn announced that there probably would be two criminal cases ready for trial next week.

When court adjourned today it was adjourned by County Judge John M. Cashin out of respect to the memory of Owen T. Plunkett who had served as a court officer during the present term of the court.

Not Travelers Checks

Allan Drake, who appeared in County Court on Monday to face a forgery charge, resides in Kingston and was involved in a local check affair on February 17, not the passing of travelers checks as previously stated. Drake's case, involving forgery, second degree, will be heard next Monday. Harry Gold was assigned to appear for the defendant whose case had been postponed because of illness.

Bicycle Is Found

Mrs. Clarence Dumm, of 4 Mountain View avenue, reported to the police yesterday that an unidentified bicycle had been parked in her yard. Officers James Burns and Earl Schoonmaker investigated and found that it was a stolen bicycle belonging to William Rice, 45 Grand street. The owner was notified.

Firemen Capture Independent Loop Bunting Tuesday

The Stone Ridge Firemen, winning a pair of games from Jumps Market Tuesday night at the Central Recreation alleys, copied the post-season Independent League championship with a 33 point aggregate total. Stone Ridge led Callanans who had 30 points and Jumps and Wilbers who were tied with 28 each.

Ralph Neville, anchor for Jumps, led the circuit with his big blast of 608 on a string of 234-203-171. F. Schryver sparked the Stone Ridge club with a 208 single and 548 triple.

Beichert won a pair from Martins with Kubieck hitting 181-519. Roland Post and Jack Hartman were high for the losers with 200-544 and 182-522.

Wilber Coal finished strong by winning all three from Vogels Dairy. Harry Wilber led the pack himself with a 218-588 effort. Hayes blasted 214-584 and Ray Dubois posted 196-555. Charlie Gruenwald pounded 220-569 for Vogels.

Callanans, finishing in second place, copied two from Cole's Market last night. F. Schick led the winners with 188-551. H. Pierce rattled 481 for Coles.

The final standings: Stone Ridge, 33; Callanans, 30; Jumps and Wilbers tied with 28; Beichert, 23; Martins 19; Coles 16 and Vogels 3.

$1,000,000 Urged for GI Brides to Join Husbands

Washington, April 23 (AP)—The Senate was urged today to provide $1,000,000 for a speedy reunion of some 3,000 foreign brides and members of the U. S. armed forces they married abroad. The fund is part of a $2,832,000,000 deficiency appropriation bill recommended by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Chairman Bridges (R-N.H.) explained to a reporter: "War Department officials told us that some of these brides and their children have been waiting two years or longer to join their husbands here. Most of them are in England but others are scattered around the world."

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

Houston, Tex., April 23 (AP)—There is an old vaudeville gag that the average man wants to go to heaven when he dies, but a Texan would prefer to ascend to Dallas.

However, a lot of live Texans now—as well as thousands of outlanders—seem to want to go to Houston. It's one of the boom capitals and fastest growing large cities in America.

It is expanding like a balloon tied to the mouth of a circus Barker. The "super markets" here are so large a customer can wear out his shoes walking from the aspirin counter to the pork chop case. One huge grocery store with enough neon lights to illuminate a world movie premiere operates on a 24-hour basis. If the baby cries at 3 a. m., you can wheel him down and buy a fresh pint of milk.

A visitor gets the impression that if a man's cigarette lighter runs dry, he just buys another oil well to refill it. You have to stand in line to get a building permit for anything smaller than a skyscraper. The music of Houston is a symphony of hammers.

The only thing Houstonians admit is even remotely wrong with their city is the climate. But they are ready to import another one if enough citizens want it changed.

A boom is the collective financial optimism and prosperity of small as well as big business men. Everyone must share the opportunities and hopes of increasing success.

Only One in U. S.

Typical of the boom mind here is interpreting J. C. Smith, Jr., who operates a taxicab which he says is "the only one in Texas equipped with one of the new telephones—certainly the only one in Houston."

Smith's initials stand for "John Clark," but "televib" calls me J. C. now except my mother—she still calls me "junior."

He came to Houston two years ago with $100 in his pockets. He hacked for others until he saved up enough to buy his own car. He named it "The Courteous Cab" but may change it soon to "The Glad Hand Cab."

Smith is a snappily dressed young man with an eager look. He wears a straw hat cocked back on his head instead of the usual cabby's cap. His taxi is equipped with all kinds of electrical gadgets, including a radio with a front and rear loud speaker and a front seat dome light installed to permit him to read when business is slow.

"My Own Invention"

"The dome light was my own invention," he said. "Now half the drivers in Houston have stolen the idea."

Smith calls everyone in town by his first name, generally adopts passengers new to Houston and steers them to the right restaurants. He has saved up enough to order two new seven-passenger cabs. He has a one-sentence philosophy:

"There's a lot of money to be made around here, and I'm out to get my share."

His fondness for his cab is like that of a cowboy for his pony. It

Clerk—What kind, kid?

Young Lady—Sir, how dare you?

Hollywood, April 23 (AP)—It's no joke to the National Broadcasting Company when its high-priced comedians poke fun at their bosses.

The network, which cut Fred Allen off the air briefly Sunday when he sought to comment on the activities of a mythical N.B.C. vice-president of Public Welfare, Red Skelton the same treatment last night when they essayed a little ribbing on the Allen case.

Red was silenced for about 12 seconds when, after an exchange of quips with his straight man, he said: "Be careful, we might ad lib."

something that will hurt the dignity of some N.B.C. vice-president. Did you hear them cut Fred Allen off Sunday?"

"You know what N.B.C. means, don't you? Nothing but cuts, nothing but confusion, nobody certain."

He had the last word, anyway, because when they put him back on the air he commented "well, we have now joined the parade of stars."

Gets In Bad
Hope got in bad after referring to Las Vegas, Nev., wide open gambling resort city, as the "only place in the world where you can get tanned and faded at the same time." He then added "of course, Fred Allen can be faded any time," and the switch was thrown.

Network officials were silent beyond the brief statement that the censored material was "objectionable to N.B.C." Edna Skelton, Red's writer and former wife, said the deleted material in the script had been disapproved by the network but that "Red was determined to do it, anyway."

Allen started the whole thing Sunday night in New York when he referred to a non-existent N.B.C. vice-president who, he said, was "in charge of program ends" and "noted the time saved when programs ran overtime."

Allen explained that this functionary saved up seconds, minutes and hours until he had amassed two weeks, then took a two-week vacation. His sponsor's advertising agency claimed Allen was cut off the air for 35 seconds, and said it would bill N.B.C. for the lost time.

Foreign Service Officer Examinations to Be Held

The deadline for the receipt of applications is June 30, 1947. Appointments are made at salary levels ranging from $3,300 to $4,400 per annum according to age, experience and qualifications.

The responsibilities of a foreign service officer are to carry out the foreign policy of the President as expressed in the directives of the secretary of state.

Petrol Shortage Is Seen

Washington, April 23 (AP)—The National Petroleum Council says a shortage of petroleum products may become so severe next fall and winter that part of the navy's ships will be immobilized for lack of fuel. One member even predicts that by autumn there will not be enough automobile gasoline to go around. The reasons are record consumption of oil—now 5,650,000 barrels a day compared with the 1945 wartime high of 5,358,000 barrels—coupled with shortages of tank cars, tankers and steel for pipe lines and equipment.

Flagstad Attacked By Stench Bombs, Boos at Concert

Philadelphia, April 23 (AP)—The aroma of stench bombs and boos filled the hallowed Academy of Music at the Kirsten Flagstad concert in what a music critic to date described as the "worst demonstration" ever experienced at the Academy.

The outbreak came at a concert given by the Norwegian soprano as pickets paraded before the Academy with signs reading: "Flagstad preferred a Nazi regime—don't play second fiddle!—Stench bombs and boos!" "We condemn Hitler! We condemn Flagstad!"

More than 1,000 persons were present when Mme. Flagstad made her initial appearance on stage. She was greeted with a wild ovation which lasted more than a moment and her first selection was well received.

However, boing began and the first stench bomb was dropped in the loges. But Mme. Flagstad's supporters were not driven out. Ulsters and detectives ejected hecklers as another stench bomb was dropped.

Then several of the patrons accosted a heckler and for a few moments before detectives converged on the scene, there was a free-for-all virtually at the singing feet with opposing sides shouting "Communist" and "Fascist" at each other.

Landlords Have Chance To Ask Increases

Present O.P.A. rent regulations provide a number of grounds on which landlords may petition for rent increases, Charles C. Hoag, Area Rent Director, pointed out today. "Of course," he added, "the increased rent must be approved by the area rent office before a landlord may collect a higher rent."

Questions concerning these and other previous provisions of the rent regulation, Mr. Hoag said, will be answered at the area rent office located at 13 Washington street, Poughkeepsie.

Generally, increases in rent are most frequently granted under the following circumstances: The accommodations have been substantially altered by a major capital improvement since rent control became effective in the area.

There has been a substantial increase in services or furnishings. The rent on the maximum rent date was substantially lower than comparable rents in the area due to blind, personal or other special

Swears Is Named To Commission by Governor Dewey

Albany, N. Y., April 23 (AP)—Leon F. Swears of Johnstown, Fulton County Republican chairman, was appointed to the state Athletic Commission today by Governor Dewey.

Swears, 52, a knitting mill owner, succeeds the late Gen. John J. Phelan on the three-member commission which regulates professional boxing and wrestling in New York and handles state taxes on amateur shows.

The appointment, subject to Senate confirmation, was to a three-year term expiring January 1, 1950. The governor's office said the job pays $25 daily for attendance at meetings.

Swears is a Republican leader in the district represented by William A. GOP Senator Fred A. Young of Lowville who asked the 1947 legislature to order a sweeping investigation of professional and amateur sports.

Young's demand for a probe came as a sequel to the expose of an attempted fix of a championship professional football game between the New York Giants and Chicago Bears, which resulted in the recent conviction of several Broadway gambling figures.

Swears' appointment followed a few weeks the Athletic Commission's action in revoking the license of middleweight Rocky Graziano. He was accused of failing to report a purported battle offer to throw a fight with Rubin Slank in which Graziano was the betting choice. The bout was canceled when Graziano claimed he had injured himself training.

There's No Connection
Young said today the Swears' appointment had no connection with his demand for a legislative probe of sports. Swears had no comment right now on his appointment.

The Athletic Commission has been functioning with two members since Phelan's death January 22, 1946. They are Edward P. Eagan of Rye chairman and William E. Powell of New York city, both Dewey appointees.

Governor Dewey's announcement said that Swears had been interested in boxing since boyhood days and that he had attended nearly every major boxing event in this state in the past 20 years.

The new commissioner is a director of the Gloversville-Johnstown club of the Canadian-American Baseball League and a member of the Johnstown board of Education.

Johnstown Native
Swears, a native of Johnstown, operated three knitting mills which he established there in 1921. His appointment gives upstate New York representation on the commission for the first time since the resignation of D. Walker Wear of Binghamton in October 1944.

Phelan, long-time chairman of the commission by Democratic appointment, was succeeded by Dewey to succeed Wear in January, 1945, when Phelan's term as chairman expired. At the same time the governor appointed Eagan to the 500 chairman's job.

The Swears appointment ended speculation concerning the possible appointment of Dan Parker, a sports editor at Nat Fleischer, a boxing magazine publisher and Tommy Loughran former light heavyweight boxing champion, all of New York city.

Mrs. Shultis Will Represent W.C.T.U.

Mrs. George Shultis, president of Kingston W.C.T.U., will represent the local chapter at the W.C.T.U. convention at Convention Hall, Asbury Park, N. J., June 5 to 10. Her appointment as a delegate was made at the regular meeting Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Anna Goodsell and Mrs. Minnie Dunnagan of 29 Green street.

"Youth" was the program topic. Considering Christian youth programs, Mrs. Dunnagan said, "Immediately after Easter 1947, area councils and annual conferences of the Methodist Church would resort with a new determination for real temperance. In the 1947 Youth Institutes the theme and refrain will be 'Temperance.' Methodism plans to march against the liquor traffic and from January to Easter 1948 every local church will be 'alerted.'"

Mrs. Dunnagan said "The International Luther League, representing 80,000 young people recognizes the liquor traffic as a great obstacle to Christian living. The league has called upon the youth of our land to take a firm stand against the rising tide of intemperance and the liquor traffic."

Mrs. John B. Stokette reported on Youth crimes and quoted J. Edgar Hoover, "The arrest of girls under 18 years of age has increased 198 per cent since 1939; while the arrests of boys under 18 have increased 72 per cent for assault, 55 per cent for auto thefts and 100 per cent for drunkenness and driving while intoxicated." Mrs. Stokette said crime costs $15,000,000 a year in the United States.

A paper written by Mrs. Henry Baruch was read by Mrs. Sherry. The topic, "A False Road to Freedom" or gambling. She stated "Gambling is sufficiently strong to dominate life. It not only violates law but destroys life and violates the law of love which is unchristian."

Since the plan encompasses the full cooperation of the parents in the home, the Sunday School Department will conduct a panel discussion Thursday evening, May 8, for parents and all interested in the Sunday school of the church. ## Rep. Macy Again to Lead Nat'l Republican Club

New York, April 23 (AP)—Rep. W. Kingsland Macy, of Suffolk county, was reelected for a third term as president of the National Republican Club last night after a bitter contest in which he was opposed by City Councilman Edward Rager, club recording secretary.

The unofficial count showed Macy received 1,703 of the 1,949 votes cast, to 239 for Rager. Seven ballots were void of blank Macy carried his victory administration ticket into office.

Rager had charged that the club was packed with supporters of Governor Thomas E. Dewey for the party's presidential nomination and that the club was becoming too local in character and was losing its national prestige. However, Macy's election had been considered a foregone conclusion after seven candidates on the Rager ticket withdrew and announced their support of the incumbent president.

Fare Rise Hearing For Hartford Line Concluded in Day

I.C.C. Panel Hears 2 Vice Presidents, Commuter Groups and Town Officials

New York, April 23, (AP)—Hearing on a petition by the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad for permission to increase its commuter fares by 20 per cent, was concluded in one day yesterday by an Interstate Commerce Commission panel.

Two vice presidents of the railroad testified and the panel also heard opposing views expressed by representatives of commuter groups and state and town officials.

The panel is scheduled to hear tomorrow a petition for a fare increase by the Long Island Railroad which comes under I.C.C. jurisdiction, because it sells commuter tickets from Long Island points to New York, N. Y.

Frank J. Wall, vice president of the New Haven, said the petition to increase fares "is only one of several steps that are being taken to secure the added revenue that is necessary to cover the increases in expenses that have occurred during and subsequent to the war in the operation of the New Haven's passenger service." Wall declared that interstate commutation traffic which moved between stations in Connecticut and New York accounted for 90.1 per cent of the New Haven's total interstate commutation revenue.

Wall said that he believed that "the public in general and our commuters in particular, know and understand the tremendous increases which the New Haven has incurred during the past few years in the form of increased wages and increased cost of material and supplies, including fuel."

Pelham Attorney Questions

Emanuel Schwartz, attorney for the town of Pelham asked Wall whether the railroad had achieved any economy in operation because commuters who had tickets good for any day in the week used them only during the five day work-week.

Wall said that the economy to the railroad was almost nothing except in the value of the fuel saved.

Schwartz objected to figures introduced during the morning session by George T. Carmichael, vice president of the New Haven, showing that operation expenses were greater during the first quarter of 1947 than they were during 1946 and quoted from testimony at a Connecticut state hearing to show that a freight wreck and snowstorm had cost the road more than $500,000 during the 1947 period and had been included in the figure.

In answer to questions by Schwartz, Wall said New Haven fares were higher than any other railroad coming into New York, with the exception of Pennsylvania railroad trains coming into Pennsylvania Station. He said also that 1946 revenue was the highest since 1931.

Herbert Askwith of Larchmont, representing a group of commuters said that New Haven fares were 20 per cent higher than comparable fares on the New York Central and declared that Westchester county is made up largely of people of "modest income" who should not be burdened with the extra cost of commutation service.

Schwenk Favors

the situation is to amend the ordinance to provide for two-hour parking in places where it is necessary, and to replace the present one-hour parking meters in those places with two-hour parking meters. He said he would make such a recommendation to the Council.

In his prepared statement, Mr. Schwenk explored the fact that far too many of our citizens fail to avail themselves of the privilege of the franchise. He said the pages of history recorded the constant struggle of the common man to win the right to vote, but that this right is achieved if it is abused by an alarming number of people.

In the 1944 presidential election, he said, 6,300,000 votes were cast in New York state out of a total population of 14,000,000. During the same year, only 621,000, or about 10 per cent, of those who voted for voters.

Such an important amendment to the state constitution as the veterans preference amendment.

Referring to another phase of the political structure of our nation, Mr. Schwenk asked if there in Kingston, the administration of which is equivalent to a two-million dollar a year business, it is almost impossible to persuade men of proved integrity, experience and competence to accept a position on the city's board of directors of the Common Council.

"The government of this city involves problems of business management, of business and administration of financial understanding, of public relations and of human relations. Mr. Schwenk added, "And yet how difficult it is to get an outstanding business man of this city to accept the nomination for mayor."

"Is this because a public official is classified as a politician and because some people think all politicians are dishonest?" he asked. He supplied his own answer with the observation that:

"Speaking from personal experience, I have served this city for some years as a public official. My public service has not made me a less good husband and father or member of this community. On the contrary, because of the things I have learned, I believe I am now a better husband, father and citizen. In other words, politics has not hurt me; politics has not hurt anyone who possesses the requisites for good citizenship. Public service should be a goal toward which all citizens should aim."

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 23 (AP)—The stock market settled into an irregular pattern today after three advancing sessions.

Industrials and rails showed reviving tendencies after early drops, but many pivoted, stayed in losing territory. The ticker tape slowed virtually to a crawl after a fairly active opening, with changes held largely to fractions. Near the fourth hour the list had a well-mixed appearance.

Trading reverted to a largely professional basis, with customers reported by brokers to be avoiding commitments awaiting outcome of labor and tax legislation and a clearer view of the effect of the new wage settlements. Prospects of uninterrupted production and further favorable first quarter earnings heartened bullish contingents.

On the offside much of the day were General Motors, Goodrich, Owens-Illinois, United Car and Baltimore & Ohio. Recovering balance were Chrysler, Bethlehem, Southern Pacific and Shenley. Strong spots included American Woolen, Joy Manufacturing (on a 6-month earnings upturn) Union Pacific, Kayser (on an extra dividend), Air Reduction, Public Service of N. J., and Eastman Kodak.

Bonds were steady and commodities easier.

State Teachers College News

Reunion Planned

New Paltz, April 22—Alumni of the New Paltz State Teachers College will hold their first post-war reunion at the College on Saturday, May 10. This meeting, the first since May 1942, will renew the regular schedule of alumni gatherings at the college. It will also serve to reorganize alumni affairs and bring them up to date.

About 6,500 New Paltz alumni have received letters from the Reunion committee outlining the program for May 10. After a luncheon at 12:30 the graduates will install a plaque dedicating the practice school to Dr. van den Berg, former president of the college who died in 1943. A business meeting at 2:30 will be held to elect officers, make changes in the constitution and elect members of the Alumni Association, and take care of other business matters. An afternoon concert by college students will complete the official schedule. Remainder of the time will be given up to renewing old acquaintances, visiting with faculty and townfolk, strolling at fraternity and sorority houses, and the like.

Greetings from Dr. W. J. Haggerty, president of New Paltz State Teachers College, were included with the letter sent to all graduates by the Reunion Committee. Haggerty urged that all former students attend the May 10 meeting and requested each alumnus to fill out an enclosed questionnaire with up-to-date information about himself. This information, President Haggerty stated, will be used by the College Placement Office to improve its service in helping graduates find positions most suitable to them, as well as to aid in bringing alumni files up to date.

President Haggerty also requested alumni to aid the college in the selection of graduates for admission. He stated that the college is returning this year to a selective admissions program and asked alumni to urge qualified high school students of their acquaintance to take tests and be interviewed as candidates for the college. The college has scheduled tests and interviews at various points in eastern New York during April.

Check on Smouldering Debris at Fuller's

Fire in a warehouse at the Fuller Shirt Co., Inc., 45 Pine Grove avenue, Tuesday about 10 p. m., destroyed a carload of cardboard boxes and a quantity of storm sash, along with some machine frames. Firemen from the Central station on West O'Reilly street work on into the night to extinguish embers left in the debris.

Threatening Blaze
When the firemen arrived they noticed that the blaze was of such proportions that the possibility of it having started as a rubbish fire was promptly eliminated. The flames already were roaring through a loading platform and warehouse door and the frame on the westerly end of the building. In one spot the fire had reached the inside and had traveled to the roof of the building.

One truck from the Central Station answered the first alarm but additional equipment from Central and Wiltwyck stations was summoned when the firemen realized that the fire had the potentialities of a major conflagration. Speedy work by the firemen checked the brunt of the fire in a short time but the fire fighters stayed on the scene until nearly midnight before returning trucks and equipment to the fire stations.

Had the blaze remained undiscovered until it gained greater headway, it is evident that a more serious conflagration would have developed, the chief stated. The building where the fire started, while disconnected from the large shirt factory structure itself, would have been but a feeder to smaller buildings which were in the vicinity and in a direct line extending to the main building.

The building, a large frame structure about 100 feet long and 35 feet wide, was formerly part of the old Pullen frame warehouses and is owned by the Jelico Realty Company of Kingston. It is used by the James S. Fuller Company for the storage of shipping cartons.

Dodgers Await Batting Practice Drills at Municipal Stadium

Joe Havens Joins Local Hill Staff; Others Drill Here

With opening day less than two weeks away, Manager George Scherger of the Kingston Dodgers is sending his local charges through extensive workouts at the New York State Armory. The Dodgers, who arrived here Monday, will open the home schedule of the North Atlantic League at Municipal stadium Saturday afternoon, May 3.

Team Drills Indoors
Unfavorable weather conditions forced the Dodger hopefuls indoors immediately upon their arrival in Kingston from their spring training base at Thomasville, N. C. A break in the weather, however, will find the club working out at the stadium within the next couple of days.

"The boys have been looking very good at their indoor drills," Paul Taylor, business manager, announced this morning. "However, Scherger is anxious to get some batting practice in and as a result is patiently awaiting the chance to see his charges perform under the sun."

Since the Dodgers arrived in Kingston the daily rehearsals at the state armory have been confined to battery and defensive training. All of the pitchers have begun to loosen up while infielders, trying to polish up their work on cutoff plays, have been going through their paces without let-up. Business Manager Taylor also predicted a fast team to represent Kingston in the Class D circuit this summer. "Manager Scherger has a number of speedsters on his roster and other teams in the loop can look forward to seeing a fast team when Kingston takes the field."

Manager Scherger, who has waxed optimistic about his present pitching staff, was further elated today with the announcement that J. Havens of Poughkeepsie had joined the Dodgers. Havens worked out with the local group in North Carolina but went home early with the advice to report at Kingston. Havens is no stranger to Hudson valley baseball fans who expect him to make the grade and become one of the mound stalwarts.

Two Haven't Reported
Of the roster released today by Business Manager Taylor only Frank Verbanac and Ken Braun haven't reported. Verbanac, infielder from Detroit, is unaccounted for. Braun, a pitcher who had been in Kingston, will report opening day. He will be married this week.

Meanwhile, plans were still going ahead today for the public reception to the Dodgers by the Kingston Chamber of Commerce scheduled for May 3 prior to the home opening of the North Atlantic League campaign.

A number of Brooklyn Dodger notables including Branch Rickey, Jr., and Fresno Thompson, are expected to attend. Tickets, which are open to the public, may be purchased at the Chamber of Commerce office or through the Kiwanis, Rotary or Lions Clubs.

Brooklyn (Broadway Arena)—Jimmy Warren, 134½, knocked out Cyril Gallie, 139½, Cardiff, Wales, 1.

Jersey City — Tommy Baker, 126½, Cliffside Park, N. J., T.K.O. Frankie Gerard, 124½, Toledo, 2.

Elizabeth, N. J.—Curtis Moore, 155½, Newark, knocked out Jimmy Isler, 148½, Newark, 8.

Three Men... Three Beauties

Joe Nagy, left, Delaware avenue barber, and Charles "Chipe" Rhymmer, right, well-known basketball star, proudly display the prize trout catches of the season, while Frank Cohen, of Frank's Sport Shop, looks on. Rhymmer's trout, a beautiful 5 pound, one ounce, 23-inch Rainbow snarled in the Asokan reservoir, is the best reported to date. Nagy displays trout weighing three and a quarter and three and a half pounds each. Both fish were caught with live bait.

In The Pocket

The spirited tempo of the first organizational gathering of the City Baseball League managers and sponsors was the harbinger of a new baseball era for the city, and furnished fairly conclusive evidence that local baseball will not suffer because of the advent of minor league ball, a sports luxury the city hasn't sampled in more than 30 years.

It was a lively, interested group of young managers, bright-eyed and eager for the 1947 campaign, the first of 15 franchises came as a great surprise. Nobody figured there were that many people interested in a twilight circuit. Certainly not after the mediocre success of the 1946 campaign.

We question the advisability of anything more than an eight-team league. Some method must be found to eliminate the squads that obviously would not measure up to pre-war City League standards. It does not necessarily follow that these players be deprived of a chance to play. The sensible solution is to pool the best players on the rosters eliminated from franchises and distribute them among the eight of ten teams selected.

The reorganization of the league poses several questions for the managers. The success or failure of the baseball-at-dusk circuit depends on the officials and managers who must first put their house in order before they can expect steady patronage from the baseball public of Kingston. It is and has been a good baseball public. But the City League managers, facing stiff competition from the Class D franchise, must effect vast improvements over the hit-and-miss league that operated at the municipal stadium.

The Athletic Field with its rich tradition of City League campaigns is the logical slumping grounds for the loop. The Cornell street diamond is steeped in baseball tradition of powerhouses like Jimmy Morgan's Repealers, Schuyver, Amber, Kyanize, Postmills, Forsts, Taiclets, Crystal Gardens and a host of others. They were great ball clubs and the City League was the hub of all baseball activities in the county. Whether a return to such preeminence is possible is highly problematical. But there is still considerable baseball talent on the hoof in Ulster county and if it is channeled into the City League, the contributing customers will see plenty of good action.

However, these same teams and ball players will have to learn to start ball games on schedule, uniform and properly equip the squads and adhere rigidly to the schedule, except in cases of emergency. The City League operated too sloppily last year. It can't afford to make that mistake in 1947, and we know that it won't.

The league could use a strong individual of the Jack Hartman type as secretary, but unfortunately you don't shake them off trees. Jack has retired from the baseball scene and falling eyesight makes it impossible for him to act as official scorer. He was responsible in a large measure for the great City Leagues of yesteryear.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM
Kaye Sportswear came through in the clutch for the second week in a row in downing Tillie Taylor's high powered lineup. . . . Most of all, the two victories over Schenectady and New York, reasserted the inviolability of team play over the efforts of individual stars. . . . Normally you would expect Kaye to suffer badly without the services of either Evelyn Moore or Rose Schatzel, the one-two punch of the squad. Rose missed the Schenectady match, while Evelyn was absent Saturday night. . . . Kaye's won both matches by 31 pins in a brilliant exhibition of teamwork and balance. . . . With Evelyn and Rose in the lineups the Kaye margin of victory would have been greater, but the important fact is that they won. . . . Then again, not every team can come up with an invalid like Marge Jansen and coax 578 out of her.

Benny Leonard's death was a terrible shock to the boxing world. . . . Leonard was a great lightweight of all time. . . . His death marks a distill of loss for the sports world. . . . Bill Whalen is undecided about his 1947 Roe Mover baseball plans in Poughkeepsie, and the Poughkeepsie Twilight League is quite concerned about the availability of Riverview Field for Sunday baseball. . . . The battle for use of the Bridge City diamond will develop into a rivalry yet. . . . Bowling class is asserting itself in the nationals at Los Angeles. . . . Eddie Koepke, Joe Norris and Andy Varipapa in the top two in all-events, and Varipapa, the national match game champion, only two pins off the singles lead with 715. . . . New York's Irumwick Red Crowns setting the pace with 3028 in the team event and Johnny Ferraro had better do something about getting that team to Kingston before the season ends. . . . Charlie Brochhead said about the way the Giants mailed the Dodgers at the Polo Grounds. . . . Charlie reports that "about 70,000 were there." . . . My, my, how that park has grown since last year! . . . Never let it be said that we ended this column without making a note of the fact that Fay Horne recently shot the first 500 triple of her career in league play. . . . Fay and Tess Moss can now get together over a cup of hot chocolate and . . . celebrate.

Indian Ace Hurls Ninth One-Hitter Against St. Louis

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

He's only 29 but Bobby Feller's lofty position in baseball already is such that hardly a year goes by now without the Major League's strikeout king setting some kind of a record.

And even though the great Cleveland Indians' speedball artist missed almost four years of chances to move further into the record books—and these years right out of the prime of his life—because of wartime service in the navy, Feller's position among the immortals of the game already is assured.

Ninth One-Hitter
In his six full years and two part-time seasons in the big time, Feller has hurled two no-hit and nine one-hitters—his latest the 5-0 blanking of the St. Louis Browns at Cleveland yesterday.

Feller set a record for the big leagues last year when he reached eight one-hitters. The Van Meter, Iowa, phenom after tying the modern Major League strikeout mark of 17 in one game in 1936, his first year in the big leagues, moved out in front by fanning 18 Detroit Tigers in a game two years later.

He also set a league record for strikeouts in two consecutive games, 28; and tied another by whiffing six men in succession. Feller's first no-hitter, April 16, 1940 against the Chicago White Sox, was the first of its kind in a season's opener and he added another against the New York Yankees last year.

Last year he established a recognized season mark of 348 strikeouts. Brooklyn's Hal Gregg yesterday held the Philadelphia Phillies to a mere safety in shutting them out 1-0 at Ebbets Field. The veteran Emil (Dutch) Leonard matched him almost pitch for pitch until the last half of the eighth when Jackie Robinson, the Dodger's Negro infielder, singled, stole second, continued to third on Catcher Andy Seminick's wild throw to head him off, and scored the all-important run on a single by Gene Hermanski.

Make Hits Count
Although they could wrangle only three hits off the combined pitching of Joe Dobson, Earl Johnson and Harry Davis, the New York Yankees made them count to the utmost by shading the Boston Red Sox 5-4. Charlie Keller, hit a three-run homer in the first inning and a run-producing single in the eighth.

Three of the Red Sox' nine hits off winning Pitcher Floyd Bevens were four baggers by Ted Williams. Same Melo and Rudy York to account for all Boston's runs. York's blow, with a man aboard, gave the Sox a temporary lead in the eighth.

Miller Pads Redlegs
Eddie Miller, who hit only six home runs in 91 games last year, banged his fifth round-tripper in nine games this year, and added a run-scoring single in the 10th inning to give the Cincinnati Reds a 7-6 victory over the Cubs in Chicago. Bobby Adams and Ray Mueller also weighed in with four-homers as the Cubs used five hurlers in vain. Harry Gumbert, third Cincinnati pitcher, was credited with the win. The heretofore puncheon Reds now have a total of 14 home runs in nine games, easily the best in the majors.

Scheduled games between Washington and Philadelphia, and Chicago and Detroit in the American League, and New York and Boston and Pittsburgh and St. Louis in the National League were postponed because of rain and cold weather.

Williams' Shift
Has Many Variations
New York, April 23 (AP)—Ted Williams ogles the 266-foot right field marker in Yankee Stadium and forgets all his resolutions about hitting to left. He still is having shift trouble.

So far Williams has looked at a different variation of the "Boudreau Shift" from each eastern team. The Philadelphia A's even evoked up something like the Cardinals' used in the World Series but Ted fixed that with two hits in the vacated areas.

When the Red Sox head west next week he'll find out what variety of the shift Muddy Ruel, Steve O'Neill and Ted Lyons have worked out. It can't be as bad as the day down south when the Cardinals' left fielder retired to the sidelines when he came to bat.

"First I thought, 'I'll show those so and sos,'" he recalled. "Then I realized it was just a gag. Those fellows must stay up nights thinking up ways to try to get my goat."

D.A. Tells Bowlers Negroes Will Soon Compete in Sport

Although the American Bowling Congress still confines its activities to members of the "Caucasian race," the day is not far off when Negroes will distinguish themselves in the bowling as they have done in every other line of American sports. District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn told the Central Recreation League bowlers last night at the annual banquet at the Evergreen Inn.

The district attorney was the principal speaker at the post-season affair which attracted about 50 persons and which honored the Evergreen League as the 1946-47 champions of the intermediate league.

Stanley Warren, league president, was the master of ceremonies. Secretary-Treasurer George Robinson distributed cash awards for the season, while John MacLellan, secretary of the Kingston Bowling Association, awarded the high single medal to Frank Chasars.

Mr. Bruhn said that it was remarkable coincidence that Negroes will serve as grand jurors on the first time in Ulster County. The May term of Supreme Court about the same time that the major leagues have opened their portals to a Negro. The lawyer, of course, is Jackie Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Regrets Others Denied
The district attorney said it was regrettable that many Negro baseball stars of the past were denied entry into the big time, mentioning specifically such renowned athletes as Satchel Page, Josh Gibson, Buck Ewing, Buck Leonard, Cannonball Ridding and a host of others. He reviewed the track record of Jesse Owens, the maximum sprinter who made Adolf Hitler vent his spleen at the Berlin Olympics. Joe Louis, of course, stands out as the greatest Negro boxer of all time, the D.A. said.

Bowling and leagues are distinguished by very definite characteristics, Bruhn said. The 190-end-up average bowler has lost much of the fun that bowling may have for the novice. He has become the perfectionist, the automaton, so to speak, in a groove where he seldom does anything wrong.

The 180-190 average bowler group identifies itself by the ambition to achieve the charmed circle—the group that makes mistakes often enough to get some fun out of the game but which finds crushing the 190 bracket just a little too tough.

Bruhn said he preferred to refer to the 170-180 legions as "the Brooklyn bowlers"—the "wait until next year" collection of tenpin bowlers. They constantly live in hopes that next year by some quirk of fate they will rise to the next higher or highest group. Next, he concluded, you have the 160-170 group who did wait until next year and made it.

Schatzel-Richards $200 Duel Opens in New York Saturday

A 14-game home and home match for a $200 purse between Kingstons' Rose Schatzel and Irene Richards, veteran New York star, will open at Heilmann's Recreation, Hempstead, L.I., Saturday, April 26, at 8:30 p. m.

The final block of seven games is scheduled in Kingston, on Saturday, May 3, at 9 p. m.

The challenge in behalf of Mrs. Richards was made by Hans Kaulman, Long Island boxing expert and the entire proceeds of the first block will be donated to a veterans hospital in the metropolitan area.

For Mrs. Schatzel, who recently represented New York and Canada in the W.I.B.C. Individual Sweepstakes, the match with Mrs. Richards will mark her third and final singles appearance of the season.

Split Two Matches
The Kingston ace defeated Mickey Michaels, New York State singles and all-events champion, in a 20-game match in January, and then lost to Ann Kauer, of Philadelphia, in 20 games in March.

Although not as well known to the local and state fans as either Miss Michaels or Kauer, the veteran Irene Richards has been a top-notch bowler in and around New York for the past 15 years. She has won numerous individual and team titles and would be named on any all-star Met quintet.

At present, Mrs. Richards is in structure at the Heilmann Recreation in Hempstead. She is one of the high average bowlers in the Metropolitan Ladies Major in Newark and regarded as virtually unbeatable on her home drives.

Bus Is Chartered
A group of Rose Schatzel supporters have chartered a bus for the trip to Hempstead, L.I., Saturday when Mrs. Schatzel engages Irene Richards, of New York, in the first block of a home-and-home singles match. Seats on the bus can be reserved by calling the Central Recreation alleys after 5 p. m., or by calling Len Freer, 3599, after 5 p. m. Accommodations are available for 37 passengers.

Looks Over Possibilities
"I came home to look over the possibilities of the tour," Miss Betz said in an interview, assuring newsmen that Cooke's promotion of the exhibition series had her full approval.

"I want to go over all the correspondence and see how much money there is in it," she continued. "I won't know what I'm going to do until then."

As soon as she talks things over with the Cooke, Miss Betz will go knocking at the door of the U.S.L.T.A.

"I have nothing against the U.S.L.T.A.," she said. "We've always been on good terms."

"But we do turn pro," she continued with a nod of assent. "Mrs. Cooke, we don't like the idea of leaving amateur tennis with any hard feelings."

At the association's headquarters, U.S.L.T.A. President Holcombe Ward said, "sure, Miss Betz will be given a hearing if she wants one."

Class A League Opens Its Season
Albany, N. Y., April 23 (AP)—With snow still piled outside some parks, the Class A Eastern League today opened its 25th flag fight which stacked up as a running battle of chain baseball reinforcements.

The wide-open race was expected to attract more than the 1,054,878 fans who turned out in 1946, numbers last season, when the Scranton Red Sox won the pennant by 18½ games and swept the playoffs.

Depending on a friendly nod from the weatherman, about 12,000 customers were awaited at these inaugurations:

Wilkes-Barre at Scranton (8 p. m.)
Hartford at Albany (4 p. m.)
Elmira at Williamsport (3 p. m.)

Binghamton at Utica (4 p. m.)
On Thursday, Scranton goes to Wilkes-Barre and Williamsport to Elmira. A day later Binghamton opens at home against Utica and Hartford against Albany.

None of the eight clubs is burdened with enough tried talent to be rated as a pre-season favorite. All the teams are either outright bought or work closely with major league clubs, and the ultimate pace-setters will be the outfits able to draw the best sources of reinforcements during the campaign.

Largely for that reason, Eastern League writers have chosen Scranton and Albany, the 1946 first and second place teams, to repeat even though most of the season's division teams shape up much stronger than a year ago.

The Scranton Red Sox, currently regarded as having the most productive farm system in the game, the Albany club, a wealthy independent, has a working agreement with the revived Pittsburgh Pirates.

Ralph Neville, anchor for Jumps, led the circuit with his big blast of 608 on a strike of 10-10-17. E. Schryver capped the Stone Ridge club with a 208 single and 548 triple.

Bucherts won a pair from Martins with Kublock hitting 181-519. Roland Post and Jack Hartman were high for the losers with 200-544 and 182-522.

Wilber Coal finished strong by winning from Vogels. Harry Wilber, the captain, hit himself with a 218-598 effort. Hay's blasted 214-584 and Ray DuBois posted 196-553. Charlie Gruenewald pounded 220-569 for Vogels.

Callanans, finishing in second place, capped two from Cole's Market last night. F. Schick led the winners with 168-551. H. Pierce rattled 481 for Coles.

The final standings: Stone Ridge, 33; Callanans, 30; Jumps and Wilbers tied with 28; Bucherts, 23; Martins, 19; Coles, 16 and Vogels, 3.

Ulster Carnival To Open Thursday
Will Feature Former Circus Stars; Many Attractions

Granite State Shows, playing under the auspices of Ulster Hose Company No. 5, will be ready to open at the lot on Albany avenue extension, Thursday, a reporter was told today by W. H. "Duke" Brownell, representative of the carnival from Concord, N. H.

Some of the equipment had arrived as early as last Sunday, but trucks carrying the rest of the show were held up at Bennington, Vt. by a snowstorm, Mr. Brownell said. "Every piece of apparatus will be on the lot for the grand opening, Thursday, though," he assured, and "I'm certain Ulster Hose will be proud of this show."

The Duke, a showman all his life, who boasts of having been with the biggest show on earth, the Ringling, Barnum and Bailey circus, discarded the cloak of modesty in describing Granite Shows. "We have one of the greatest arrays of attractions, shows and rides," he remarked. "All new blue canvas and a marquee second to none."

The free act features the Flying Rooneys, formerly with the Ringling circus. "It's a real thriller," beamed the Duke.

J. W. Ostrander, one of the comedians from Ulster Hose, said the fire company booked the carnival on the grounds that it was a reputable show and expressed the hope that attendance would be large.

Two Civil Cases Settled In County Court Today
In County Court this morning two civil matters were announced settled. Mary Soper against Lacey Burger, a replevin action, and Louis Morello against Fox Maid Frocks, Inc., a breach of contract action.

Jurors were excused until Monday at 2 p. m. when the civil calendar will again be called.

District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn announced that there probably would be two criminal cases ready for trial next week.

When court adjourned today it was adjourned by County Judge John M. Cashin out of respect to the memory of Owen T. Plunkett who had served as a court officer during the present term of the court.

$1,000,000 Urged for GI Brides to Join Husbands
Washington, April 23 (AP)—The Senate was urged today to provide $1,000,000 for a speedy reunion of some 3,000 foreign brides and members of the U. S. armed forces they married abroad. The fund is part of a $2,522,000,000 appropriation bill recommended by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Chairman Bridges (R-N.H.) explained to a reporter: "War Department officials told us that some of these brides and their children have been waiting two years or longer to join their husbands here. Most of them are in England but others are scattered around the world."

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook
By HAL BOYLE
Houston, Tex., April 23 (AP)—There is an old vaudeville gag that the average man wants to go to heaven when he dies, but a Texan would prefer to ascend to Dallas.

However, a lot of live Texans now—as well as thousands of outlanders—seem to want to go to Houston. It's one of the boom capitals and fastest growing large cities in America.

It is expanding like a balloon tied to the mouth of a circus barker. The super markets here are so large a customer can wear out his shoes walking from the aspirin counter to the pork chop counter. One huge grocery store with enough neon lights to illuminate a movie premiere operates on a 24-hour basis. If the baby cries at 3 a. m. you can wheel him down and buy a fresh pint of milk.

A visitor gets the impression that if a man's cigarette lighter runs dry, he just buys another oil can to fill it. You have to stand in line to get a building permit for anything smaller than a skyscraper. The music of Houston is a symphony of hammers.

The only thing Houstonians admit is even remotely wrong with their city is the climate. But they are ready to import another one if enough citizens want it changed.

A boom is the collective financial optimism and prosperity of small as well as big business men. Everyone must share the opportunities and hopes of increasing success.

Only One in U. S.
Typical of the boom mind here is enterprising J. C. Smith Jr., who operates a taxicab which he says is "the only one in Texas equipped with one of the new telephones—certainly the only one in Houston."

Smith's initials stand for "John Clark" but "everybody calls me J. C. now except my mother—she still calls me 'Junior'."

He came to Houston two years ago with $100 in his pockets. He harked for others until he saved up enough to buy his own car. He named it "The Courteous Cab" but may change it soon to "The Glad Hand Cab."

N.B.C. Won't Take Kidding, Skelton, Hope Find Out

Hollywood, April 23 (UP)—It's no joke to the National Broadcasting Company when its high-priced comedians poke fun at their bosses.

The network, which cut Fred Allen off the air briefly Sunday when he sought to comment on the activities of a mythical N.B.C. vice-president, gave Bob Hope and Red Skelton the same treatment last night when they essayed a little ribbing on the Allen case.

Red was silenced for about 12 seconds when, after an exchange of quips with his straight man, he said:

"Be careful, we might ad lib something that will hurt the dignity of some N.B.C. vice-president. Did you hear them cut Fred Allen off Sunday?"

That's when they pulled the plug on Red, but he went right on for the benefit of his studio audience:

"You know what N.B.C. means, don't you? Nothing but cuts, nothing but confusion, nobody certain."

He had the last word, anyway, because when they put him back on the air he commented "well, we have now joined the parade of stars."

Hope got in bad after referring to Las Vegas, Nev., wide open gambling resort city, as the "only place in the world where you can get tanned and faded at the same time." He then added "of course, Fred Allen can be faded anytime," and the switch was thrown.

Network officials were silent beyond the brief statement that the censored material was "objectionable to N.B.C." Edna Skelton, Red's writer and former wife, said the deleted material in the script had been disapproved by the network but that "Red was determined to use it anyway."

Allen started the whole thing Sunday night in New York when he referred to a non-existent N.B.C. vice-president who, he said, was "in charge of program ends" and "noted the time saved when programs ran overtime."

The network explained that this functionary saved up seconds, minutes and hours until he had amassed two weeks, then took a two-week vacation. His sponsor's advertising agency claimed Allen was cut off the air for 35 seconds, and said it would bill N.B.C. for the lost time.

Flagstad Attacked By Stench Bombs, Boos at Concert

Philadelphia, April 23 (UP)—The aroma of stench bombs and boos filled the hallowed Academy of Music at the Kirsten Flagstad concert in what a music critic today described as the "worst demonstration" ever experienced at the Academy.

The outbreak came at a concert given by the Norwegian soprano as pickets paraded before the Academy with signs reading: "Flagstad preferred a Nazi regime—don't play second fiddle—Slav out!" and "Artists are not above judgment. We condemn Hitler! We condemn Flagstad!"

More than 1,000 persons were present when Mme. Flagstad made her initial appearance on stage. She was greeted with a wild ovation which lasted more than a moment and her first selection was well received.

However, boos began and the first stench bomb was dropped in the loges. But Mme. Flagstad's supporters were not driven out. Picketers as another stench bomb was dropped.

Then several of the patrons accented a heckler and for a few moments before detectives converged on the scene, there was a free-for-all virtuoso at the singing of a few with opposing sides shouting "Communist" and "Fascist" at each other.

No arrests were made. The Philadelphia Inquirer music critic, Linton Martin, said the demonstration was the worst ever experienced at the Academy.

Network officials were silent beyond the brief statement that the censored material was "objectionable to N.B.C." Edna Skelton, Red's writer and former wife, said the deleted material in the script had been disapproved by the network but that "Red was determined to use it anyway."

Allen started the whole thing Sunday night in New York when he referred to a non-existent N.B.C. vice-president who, he said, was "in charge of program ends" and "noted the time saved when programs ran overtime."

The network explained that this functionary saved up seconds, minutes and hours until he had amassed two weeks, then took a two-week vacation. His sponsor's advertising agency claimed Allen was cut off the air for 35 seconds, and said it would bill N.B.C. for the lost time.

Landlords Have Chance To Ask Increases

Present O.P.A. rent regulations provide a number of grounds on which landlords may petition for rent increases, Charles C. Hoag, Area Rent Director, pointed out today. "Of course," he added, "the increased rent must be approved by the area rent office before a landlord may collect a higher rent."

Questions concerning these and other provisions of the rent regulation, Mr. Hoag said, will be answered at the area rent office located at 13 Washington street, Poughkeepsie.

Generally, increases in rent are most frequently granted under the following circumstances:

The accommodations have been substantially altered by a major capital improvement since rent control became effective in the area.

There has been a substantial increase in services or furnishings.

The rent on the maximum rent date was substantially lower than comparable rents in the area due to blood, personal or other special relationship between landlord and tenant.

In some cases where there has been an increase in the number of occupants of a dwelling unit, a peculiar circumstance caused the rent on the maximum rent date to be substantially lower than comparable rents in the area.

Since the maximum rent date, there has been an unavoidable increase in property taxes and operating costs which has resulted in a substantial decrease in net income (before interest), and the rent is below comparable rents in the area.

Network officials were silent beyond the brief statement that the censored material was "objectionable to N.B.C." Edna Skelton, Red's writer and former wife, said the deleted material in the script had been disapproved by the network but that "Red was determined to use it anyway."

Allen started the whole thing Sunday night in New York when he referred to a non-existent N.B.C. vice-president who, he said, was "in charge of program ends" and "noted the time saved when programs ran overtime."

Through special arrangements with the management of the Y.M.C.A., women students are being admitted to the pool, at the times set aside for use of the group from Bard.
